Introduction

THE 2013 EDITION of the Virginia Freedom of Information Act, Virginia Conflict of Interests Act and Virginia Public Records Act Guide is published by the Virginia Municipal League.

In addition to covering FOIA and COIA, this publication includes information regarding the Public Records Act. Each of the acts requires all council members and certain other elected and appointed officials to read and familiarize themselves with the three sets of laws.

This guide explains the three laws in non-legal terms as much as possible. It is not written for lawyers, though we hope it will be useful for attorneys, too.

The Freedom of Information Act and Conflict of Interests Act constitute a large part of the rules of conduct for state and local government officials. Other guidance and principles are important, too – the ethics of government officials. In 2008, VML participated with George Mason University to develop a comprehensive guide to ethics. The result is the book The Ethical GPS, Navigating Everyday Dilemmas. VML encourages city and town council members to consult that guide, in addition to this volume, when evaluating the best course of action as leaders of a locality.

Virginia Freedom of Information Act
Guide for Local Government Officials

Introduction

The Virginia Freedom of Information Act was enacted by the General Assembly in 1968. In the years since, the law has undergone major revisions and has been modified annually to address new situations. The 2013 version of the act is included as an appendix to this guide.

Local public officials are required to read and familiarize themselves with the law. §2.2-3702.B. This guide provides useful assistance in meeting that obligation. Many provisions of the act address state agencies and other matters that do not concern local governments. Those provisions are not discussed. This guide will help local officials become familiar with their obligations under the law.

The Freedom of Information Act Advisory Council, through its staff, provides local officials with timely information about the act that will assist in compliance. Contact information for the staff is found later in this report.

This guide has two major sections – meetings of a public body and records of a public body. The term "public body" will be used to generally describe any locally elected public body, such as city and town councils, as well as county boards and committees of all such bodies. Where a difference exists in the act's requirements for a specific type of local elected public body, the difference is noted.

Purpose of the act

FOIA generally determines how local public bodies must conduct their meetings, from city council sessions to a citizen advisory committee recommending where to locate a new sidewalk. The act also regulates the public's access to local government records.

The guiding principle of FOIA is openness. The act aims to "ensure[ ] the people of the Commonwealth ready access to records in the custody of public officials and free entry to meetings of public bodies wherein the business of the people is being conducted." § 2.2-3700.B. The section further declares that "the affairs of government are not intended to be conducted in an atmosphere of secrecy since at all times the public is to be the beneficiary of any action taken at any level of government." Id.

Thus, FOIA attempts to ensure that Virginia's citizens have the ability to observe how their elected public officials are conducting public business.

What's New

The General Assembly passed several revisions to FOIA in the 2012 session. The relevant changes are summarized below, along with several other important pieces of legislation related to public access.

New Exemptions:

When a minor participates in a parks and recreation department program, the registration information for the minor is exempt from disclosure unless the parent or child, if he or she is emancipated, waives the protection. §2.2-3705.7, subsection 22, amended by HB 1524.

For some years, a member of council could participate electronically if he or she had an emergency. HB 2026 amended the law to allow electronic participation for any personal matter.

The section controlling release of criminal records, §2.2-3706 was reworked to be clearer in use, but was not changed substantially. The section is explained in the section of this guide on criminal incident information.

I. Meetings.

The basic principle of FOIA is that all meetings of public bodies are open to the public. Section 2.2-3700.B makes this clear:

> All public records and meetings shall be presumed open, unless an exemption is properly invoked. The provisions of this chapter shall be liberally construed to promote an increased awareness by all persons of governmental activities and afford every opportunity to citizens to witness the operations of government. Any exemption from > public access to ... meetings shall be narrowly construed and no ... meeting closed to the public unless specifically made exempt pursuant to this chapter or other specific provision of law.

Nevertheless, the act contains numerous exceptions to the open meeting requirement. Some issues may be discussed in a meeting closed to the public. For instance, public bodies may hold a closed meeting if an open discussion will lead to the release of information that certain other state laws require to be kept secret. See § 2.2-3711.A.26, 33, 34. Still, the fact that a meeting may be closed does not mean that it must be or even should be closed. Furthermore, any exceptions are to be narrowly construed.

A. Public body.

The open meeting requirements apply whenever a public body holds or participates in a meeting. The definition of "public body" is very broad. See § 2.2-3701. City and town councils and county boards of supervisors obviously are included. All committees and subcommittees are included, whether any members of the local governing body serve on the committee. Citizen committees are included if the committee is charged with either carrying out some function for the public body or advising it. FOIA specifically states that having citizen members does not exempt the body from the act. Id. Accordingly, a citizens' committee formed by the city or town to advise where a park or school should be located would be a public body subject to FOIA.

A committee of a council is a public body, as noted above. Whether the committee is a standing committee or an ad hoc committee, it is subject to the act. If the chair of a four-member finance committee appoints two members to negotiate a contract or to carry out-some other role, that subcommittee of the finance committee is also subject to the act.

B. What is a meeting?

City and town council meetings, county board meetings and committee meetings of a public body are certainly meetings regulated by the act. Like the definition of public body, the definition of meeting is broadly construed under § 2.2-3701, intending to capture any meeting where public business is transacted or discussed. A council work session is also a meeting, as is any other "informal assemblage" of as many as three members of a public body (or a quorum if less than three members exist) where public business of the locality is discussed.

FOIA typically applies to public body gatherings irrespective of the meeting's location. It doesn't matter if a meeting is held in the council chambers or at a council retreat held out of the locality.

Attendance at a VML Annual Conference or a National League of Cities meeting is sometimes a touchy subject. Because of the broad definition of public meeting, some councils and boards consider attendance at a state or national conference to be a meeting, and will comply with the notice requirements of the act (discussed below) to be on the safe side, even though there is no plan to discuss the locality's public business. This action sometimes invokes a negative response from the media or citizens who complain that they cannot attend the out of town meeting. Conversely, if the council doesn't consider attendance at a conference to be a meeting, then the complaint becomes one that the council has sneaked out of town on a private meeting. The best solution is to announce the conference at a council meeting, but not describe it as a meeting of the locality, and to strictly avoid deliberating on the locality's public business while attending the conference.

A gathering of council does not create a meeting if public business is not discussed or carried out and the gathering was not called for the purpose of doing public business. § 2.2-3707. This section is aimed at allowing participation in community events or parties. Without this section, a citizen could criticize a council for holding a meeting if three members of council show up at a community forum. Similarly, attending a public forum, debate, or candidate's forum does not count as a meeting if the gathering is held to inform the electorate and no public business is being transacted. Finally, a meeting of employees for business purposes also does not constitute a meeting, under the § 2.2-3701 definition.

Number of public officials needed to constitute a meeting

Obviously, any meeting of a council qualifies as a public meeting. For the purposes of the act, such a council meeting is created if a majority of council, or three members, regardless of how many are needed for a majority get together. § 2.2-3701. Therefore, if three members of a council meet to discuss or act on government business, that creates a council meeting for purposes of FOIA, even if it is not a meeting per the locality's rules.

In contrast, if the three members are on a committee and meet as the committee, that meeting is a committee meeting, not a council meeting. If additional council members attend a council committee meeting, that does not necessarily convert the meeting from a committee meeting to a council meeting. This was established in a Winchester Circuit Court opinion in Shenandoah Publishing House, Inc. v. Winchester City Council, 37 Va. Cir 149 (1995).

Notice provisions

General notice requirements that are spelled out in the act must be followed in order to hold any meeting of a public body. The state code also contains numerous specific notice and advertising requirements for particular types of public business. Examples include notice of zoning actions (§ 15.2-2204) and adopting budgets (§ 15.2-2506). In all cases, the more general requirements in FOIA need to be followed in addition to any other requirements. The state code's specific, subject matter requirements apply only if the public body is discussing the relevant type of public business. For all meetings of a council, committee, board, or other agency, notice must be posted on the body's public bulletin board and in the council clerk's office, or, if there is none, the office of the chief administrator. § 2.2-3707.C. The notice must state the date, time and location of the meeting and must be posted at least three days before the date the meeting is to take place.

For regular meetings, a simple way to comply with this requirement is to post a single notice listing the information for all meetings of the next year. This way, nobody will forget to give notice of a regularly scheduled meeting. For special or emergency meetings, the notice must be reasonable given the circumstances. The notice must be given to the public no later than when it is given to the members being called to attend. § 2.2-3707.D.

Any person may file an annual request for notice of all meetings. In that case, the public body must notify the person making the request of all meetings. Sending the annual schedule of all regular meetings will assist in complying with this obligation. If the requester supplies an e-mail address, all notices may be sent via e-mail, unless the person objects. § 2.2-3707.E.

If a citizen submits an e-mail address to the locality for the purpose of being notified of meetings and other events, that e-mail address need not be disclosed to others by the locality, pursuant to § 2.2-3705.1.10, but only if the person who has submitted the e-mail address requests the non-disclosure. Localities that are interested in keeping e-mail addresses private may want to send an e-mail to all e-mail recipients asking them to advise whether they want to have their e-mail address withheld.

Meeting minutes

Minutes of council meetings must be taken at all open meetings. § 2.2-3707. Minutes must be written and include the meeting's date, time, and location, along with attendance, a summary of discussed matters, and any votes taken. Minutes of council committee meetings are required to be taken only if a majority of the members of the council serve on the committee. Accordingly, localities are advised to avoid creating committees that include a majority of the council.

Draft minutes and any audio or video recording made of a meeting are available to the public for inspection and copying. This means that draft minutes must be disclosed if requested.

The agenda packet and all materials furnished to the members of the council (except documents that are exempt from disclosure, such as advice of the town or city attorney) must be made available for public inspection at the same time it is distributed to the members. § 2.2-3707. Any records that are exempt from disclosure do not need to be made available. The practical problem is for staff to remember to cull any exempt documents when making the public copy of the agenda. The better practice is to not include exempt documents as a part of the agenda, but to send them separately.

Recording meetings

Citizens have an absolute right to photograph and make video or audiotapes of public meetings. While the council may establish rules for where the equipment may be set up so meetings are not disrupted, the recording equipment may not be excluded altogether. § 2.2-3707. Council may not meet in a location where recordings are prohibited. If a courtroom, for example, has a standing order forbidding any form of recordation, public body meetings must be held elsewhere. § 2.2-3707.H.

Electronic meetings

Generally, council may not hold a meeting via electronic media, including a conference call, pursuant to §§ 2.2-3707 & 3708. There are two exceptions: First, if the governor declares an emergency, the council may hold an electronic meeting, where members phone in or participate by other electronic means, solely to address the emergency. Council must give notice to the public to the extent possible and must provide public access to the meeting. § 2.2-3708.G.

Second, a member of council may participate electronically if he or she has an emergency or personal matter and identifies the emergency or personal matter, or if he or she has a medical condition that prevents attendance. For this exception to apply, the remainder of council must approve the electronic participation by a majority vote. § 2.2-3708.1.

In addition to these exceptions, council members have some flexibility in communicating through e-mail. A 2004 Virginia Supreme Court opinion, Beck v. Shelton, 267 Va. 482; 593 S.E.2d 195, ruled that council members e-mailing each other did not create a meeting for purposes of FOIA. In Beck, multiple e-mails were sent by an individual council member to all other members; some e-mails were in a reply to all members, and in one or two of the e-mails, the reply was made more than 24 hours after the e-mail to which it replied. The court found that no meeting had occurred, although the opinion noted that the outcome may have been different had the e-mails been part of instant messaging or a chat room discussion.

The Virginia Supreme Court reinforced its Beck reasoning in Hill v. Fairfax County School Board. No. 111805 (June 7, 2012). Hill involved e-mails between members of a school board that were exchanged over an even shorter interval than in Beck. Back-and-forth communications only occurred between two board members (not the three required for a meeting under FOIA). Any e-mail that was received by three or more members was found to be of an informational or unilateral nature and did not create any discussion among members. Following Beck, the court reiterated that e-mails between council members must be sufficiently simultaneous to create a meeting for purposes of FOIA. Hill affirmed the lower court's finding that the school board members' communications did not create a meeting because the e-mails did not show the simultaneity or group discussion required under FOIA. Thus, responsive e-mails between at least three council members must occur within quick succession to constitute an assembly of the members (though the precise responsive speed that would be necessary is unclear).

Beck and Hill indicate that e-mail communication between more than two council members may comprise a meeting under FOIA if consisting of mutual discussion within a time frame short enough to be considered an assemblage. In light of these cases, council members have some discretion to send e-mails to other members if over an extended timeframe or if non-conversational (however, these e-mails will almost always be public records and subject to FOIA's disclosure provisions; see Part II of this guide). Nonetheless, council members should be cautious when communicating public business over e-mail because the courts have not clearly stated where responsive e-mails are considered an assemblage. Furthermore, this vagueness will only become amplified as technology improves and e-mail communication becomes ever more instantaneous. If a series of e-mails is found to be sufficiently analogous to an assembly of three or more council members, then all of FOIA's requirements apply. In that case, demonstrating how a group of e-mails between council members was open to the public may prove difficult.

Voting

All votes must be made publicly. Secret ballots are not allowed, unless permitted by some other provision of law. § 2.2-3710.A. This section, however, specifically authorizes each member of council to contact other members of a council or other body "for the purpose of ascertaining a member's position" on public business without making the position public. § 2.2-3710.B.

C. Closed meetings.

A closed meeting is a meeting of a council or other public body from which the public is excluded. It may be held only for specific reasons, which are delineated in the act. A closed meeting must be entered into during an open meeting of the public body (the specific procedures are described below). After the closed portion of a meeting, the council must reconvene in open session to certify that the closed meeting portion was carried out legally. There are exceptions to the requirement that a closed meeting be held as a part of an open meeting. They are discussed below.

Purposes for closed meetings

Section 2.2-3711 sets out 45 reasons for holding a closed meeting. A city or town council will generally need to hold a closed meeting for one of six of the possibilities:

- personnel matters - subsection 1;
- real property - subsection 3;
- privacy of individuals unrelated to public business - subsection 4;
- prospective business - subsection 5;
- consultation with legal counsel - subsection 7; and
- terrorism- subsection 20.

1. Personnel matters. Section 2.2-3711.A.1 authorizes a closed meeting for: "[d]iscussion, consideration or interviews of prospective candidates for employment; assignment, appointment, promotion, performance, demotion, salaries, disciplining or resignation of specific public officers, appointees or employees of any public body."

The most significant requirement in the subsection is that the discussion be about one or more specific people. This means that the council may not discuss general personnel issues in a closed meeting. For example, the council would not be authorized to meet behind closed doors to discuss a pay plan or set salaries for all employees. The council could, however, meet to discuss the pay increase to be given an employee or appointee, based on the council's discussion in the meeting of the employee's performance.

Note that the section applies to three classes of public officials: public officers, public appointees and employees of the public body. Therefore, the council could discuss the performance of a specific planning commission member in closed meeting since that person is an appointee of the council.

Two attorney general opinions have clouded the use of the section for a closed meeting discussion of most employees and some other public officials. In an opinion issued Dec. 16, 1998, the attorney general opined that a council may not hold a closed meeting to discuss employees who are not directly employed by the council. The opinion states that only the manager, clerk and city attorney could be discussed in a closed meeting, because the city charter stated that only those three employees are under the "full supervisory authority" of the council. The attorney general confirmed the opinion in a second opinion dated May 18, 2000, which was written in response to a request for reconsideration. 2000 WL 875260.

Many local government attorneys, as well as VML, disagree with this opinion. The specific language of the subsection allowing a closed meeting for personnel matters states that the individual must be an employee of the public body. The opinion limits the term "employee of the public body" in a manner that is inconsistent with the common understanding of the authority of a city or town council over all employees, not just those who report directly to the council. If a council directs the manager to fire an employee for a problem it discussed in a closed meeting, the manager would be expected to fire the individual. Direct supervisory control by council may not exist, but the council retains the ultimate responsibility for hiring and firing; hence, the council should logically retain the ability to confidentially discuss the employee. The FOIA Council does advise that, even accepting the attorney's general opinion, the council could convene in closed session to discuss the manager's handling of the personnel matter, since the manager is a direct employee of the council.

The other opinion that has cast a cloud on the use of the exemption was issued April 5, 1999. It states that a school board cannot meet in closed session to discuss choosing a chairman and vice chairman. The rationale was that the chairman and vice chairman are not appointed or employed by the public body. The specific words of the section, however, make personnel matters apply to "specific public officers, appointees or employees" of the public body. Certainly, the chairman is a public officer and appointee of the school board, since the board makes the appointment or election in the case in the opinion, and the chair is the leader of the board.

Opinions of the attorney general do not have the effect of a court decision. They are only opinions that may be considered for guidance. Courts will give some weight to such opinions, but are not bound by them. Localities are cautioned in this area. It is always possible that a judge will simply follow an opinion without evaluating its merits. In that case, a locality could find itself losing a case in court over either of these two issues.

2. Real property. A closed session for discussion of real property issues is allowed for the acquisition of land for a public purpose or disposition of publicly held land. The section limits real property discussions to those where discussing the matter in open session would harm the council's bargaining position. § 2.2-3711.A.3.

The council does not need to state why an open discussion would harm its position in the motion to hold a closed meeting. Still, a council should be prepared to defend the closed meeting if challenged.

3. Privacy of individuals unrelated to public business. Local governments do not use this section very often because a council meeting is generally limited to discussing public business. However, if as a part of public business a matter arises that affects the privacy of an individual unrelated to public business, the meeting may be carried out in private. This provision's usefulness can be illustrated through discussion of routing a new street. If a landowner who could be displaced has a medical condition that would make condemning his home a life threatening situation, that would be a privacy issue for the citizen not related to public business. It would be appropriate for the council to avoid discussion in the public view, in order to protect the individual's privacy. § 2.2-3711.A.4.

4. Prospective business and business retention. In today's competitive market for recruiting and retaining businesses, much negotiation goes on between the council and a company, often involving tax benefits, land deals, employment incentives and similar matters. If that kind of information is discussed in public session, competing localities from other states will gain a competitive advantage, since they will know how much must be offered to take the business away from the Virginia locality. Section 2.2-3711.A.5 allows a closed meeting to protect these negotiations.

In order to enter into a closed meeting, there must have been no "announcement" of the interest of the business in the community. Whether a local newspaper's report of the business interest may constitute an announcement of the interest is an unresolved question. One circuit court has ruled that a news report without any statement by the government qualifies as an announcement. The state FOIA office, however, takes the position that an announcement is something more than a newspaper report speculating about business. If a public official makes the statement about the business in an official capacity, that clearly constitutes an announcement and the section could not be invoked.

The section not only authorizes a meeting for the location of a business, but also the expansion of an existing business. In the case of an expansion, there must have been no announcement of the interest in expanding.

A locality may also go into closed session to discuss the retention of an existing business. The code authorizes this when the retention discussion relies on proprietary information from the business, or memoranda and/or working papers from the public body that, if publicized, would be adverse to the financial interests of the locality. §§ 2.2-3711.40. & 2.2-3705.6.3.

5. Consultation with legal counsel. This important provision is limited to three types of legal matters:

1. actual litigation;
2. probable litigation; and,
3. specific legal matters requiring the advice of counsel. § 2.2-3711.A.7.

In actual or probable litigation, a closed meeting can be held only if holding a discussion in the open "adversely affect[s] the negotiating or litigating posture" of the council. For example, there is no need to hold a closed meeting to simply explain to council that the locality had been sued. The documents are available to the public in the circuit court clerk's office, therefore a briefing that the suit had been filed should be done in open meeting. In contrast, a briefing by the city attorney on the strategy for defending the suit would be appropriate for a closed meeting because open discussion would obviously hinder the defense. Again, the council does not need to identify why a closed meeting is needed; it only has to be able to defend the decision if later challenged.

Actual litigation refers to existing litigation. Probable litigation is defined to mean that a suit has been "specifically threatened" or the council or its attorney has a "reasonable basis" to believe a suit will be filed. The third category is limited to "consultation with counsel ... regarding specific legal matters" requiring legal advice. This category, like the two litigation categories, is limited to consulting the attorney (or other staff members or consultants) about an appropriate matter for a closed meeting. The section may not be used to hold a discussion among the members of a council, even if the attorney is present. Nonetheless, discussion among members for the purpose of consulting an attorney is allowed. Simply having an attorney present does not allow a closed meeting and does not allow a general discussion among the members. If non-attorney staff members participate, the attorney should still be present and participating in the consultation. This was reinforced by language added in 1999: "Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to permit the closure of a meeting merely because an attorney ... is in attendance or is consulted on a matter." Id.

This rule was demonstrated in the March 2000 Richmond Circuit Court opinion Colonial Downs, L.P v. Virginia Racing Commission, (2000 WL 305986). In that case, the racing commission went into a closed meeting for consultation with counsel, but spent the time holding a general discussion of Colonial Downs' application for licensing. The court held that the meeting was a violation of the act.

6. Terrorism. After the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks, it became clear that some provisions of the act made it easy for a terrorist to gain security information through a FOIA request. One step in response was a change to § 2.2-3711.A.19 that allows a meeting in closed session to discuss planning for terrorist activity, the public body may meet to be briefed by staff, attorneys or law-enforcement or emergency service personnel to respond to terrorism or "a related threat to public safety."

Procedures for closed meetings

Getting into closed meetings. In order to go from an open meeting to a closed meeting, there must be a recorded vote in open meeting. The motion must include the following elements:

1. the subject must be identified (example: new park in east end of city);
2. a statement of the purpose of the meeting (acquiring land for park); and,
3. a reference to the code section authorizing the meeting. § 2.2-3711.A.3.

The degree of specificity in the statement of the subject and purpose of a meeting varies with the nature of the issue. A discussion about a pending lawsuit should name the suit. After all, the pleadings are public and the suit may well have been the subject of a newspaper article. On the other hand, a discussion of a sensitive personnel matter should not contain much specificity in the motion, so as to not embarrass the employee who is the subject of the meeting. The council will need to exercise discretion in the motion's specificity.

Nonetheless, in no case will it be sufficient to make a general statement to satisfy the first and second requirements above. "Personnel matters, pursuant to FOIA" is inadequate for a motion for a closed meeting. The Virginia Supreme Court opinion in White Dog Publishing, Inc. v. Culpeper County Board of Supervisors, made this clear.

During a closed meeting, only the topics identified in the motion may be discussed. In order to discuss more than one topic, the council should either include both topics in one motion, which is the preferred method, or come out of closed meeting and re-enter after making a motion on the second topic.

Minutes are allowed to be taken in a closed meeting, but not required, and in almost every case, is not a good idea. They serve little purpose, since the council must take any action in open meeting, and there will be a record of the open meeting. § 2.2-3712.I.

Va. Code § 2.2-3712 states that non-binding votes may be taken in closed meeting. Any official vote must he held in open session. Many local governments, therefore, take no more than a straw poll during a closed meeting, or take no votes at all, no matter how informal.

Getting out of closed meeting. At the conclusion of each closed meeting, the public body must certify in open session that it complied with the act by a roll call vote. The vote must confirm that the meeting was held for purposes allowed by the act and that while in the closed session, only those matters identified in the motion to hold a closed meeting were discussed. If a member disagrees, he must state how the closed meeting did not satisfy the requirements of the act before the vote is taken. § 2.2-3712. A record of the vote must be kept in the public body's records.

Interviewing chief administrative officer candidates. Most closed meetings must be held as a part of an open meeting, so the public knows the time and place of it. The act contains an important exception for local governments in § 2.2-3712.B. If a public body is to hold interviews for its chief administrative officer, it may make a single announcement in open meeting that it will hold interviews. It need not identify the location of the interviews or the names of the interviewees. The interviews must be held within 15 days of the motion.

Annexation agreements - no FOIA requirements

Independent of FOIA, Va. Code § 15.2-2907.D allows a council or board to hold meetings on matters concerning annexation or a voluntary settlement agreement with no FOIA implications. This means notice need not be given, the public need not be invited, and minutes need not be taken. No other FOIA requirements need to be followed. The section does not prohibit a public body from following the FOIA requirements, but they are not mandatory.

II. Records.

The second major purpose of FOIA is to set out the rules for public record disclosure. The general rule in FOIA concerning records is that they are open to public inspection and copying. However, more than 80 categories of records are exempt from public access. Most do not apply to local governments. The fact that a record may be exempt from disclosure does not require it to be withheld. Each exemption section states in the opening sentence that the records "may be disclosed by the custodian in his discretion, except where such disclosure is prohibited by law." Some records, however, are prohibited from being disclosed at all. The custodian has no discretion to permit their disclosure. The main examples are certain tax records that Va. Code § 58.1-3 requires to be kept confidential, and matters for which the Privacy Protection Act prohibits disclosure. The act applies to records of the public body, whether the records are on paper, or in an electronic form, such as e-mails, databases and other electronic formats.

A. Responding to disclosure requests

Custodian of records. The records provisions of the act use the term "custodian of the records" as the person who has the responsibility to respond. Some sections mention the obligation of the public body, but the responsibility is clearly with the custodian. If suit is brought over a violation, however, the public body can expect to be named as a defendant.

One temptation is to deny a request because it was made to the wrong public official. If another public official who works in the same local government has the records, the request should not be denied just because it was directed to the wrong official if the recipient knows or should know that the records are available from another official. In this case, the official should respond to the request with the contact information for the other public body or just work with the other official to provide the records. § 2.2-3704.B.3.

If the locality stores archived records off-site, and the records are in control of a third party, it is still the public body's responsibility to retrieve those records if they are requested. § 2.2-3704.J. However, § 2.2-3704 was amended to make the Library of Virginia the custodian if the locality properly archives records with the state library.

Procedures for handling requests. Any citizen or member of the media may request an opportunity to inspect and/or copy public records. The request does not have to refer to the act, but only needs to identify the records with reasonable specificity. § 2.2-3704. There is no authority to require the request to be in writing, nor may the custodian of the records refuse to reply to a request if the requester refuses to put a request in writing. Some government offices ask for the request to be reduced to writing. This is a useful policy because it helps the custodian better understand what is being requested. That helps the requester, since the custodian can shorten the time researching records, thereby reducing the cost to the individual. If the individual declines to reduce the request to writing, a helpful option is to confer with the individual and write down the request, allowing the person to see the note and hopefully sign it, so no confusion will exist.

The custodian may require the person asking to see or copy records for his name and legal address. Section 2.2-3704.A. This 2002 amendment is part of the terrorism bill, but is not limited to requests relating to terrorism. The act is not clear on what happens if the requester refuses. VML suggests that if the requester does refuses, the language that the custodian "may require" the information necessarily implies that the custodian may refuse to allow access to the records.

The act does not give any rights to people who are not residents of Virginia, or to media representatives if the media entity does not publish or broadcast into the state. § 2.2-3704. As a practical matter, however, many government agencies don't discriminate based on where the requester is from. It is generally easy for an out-of-state person or media representative to find a Virginia individual to make the request. Therefore, there is little point in denying a request based on residency. Still, there is nothing that prohibits denying the request, so a locality is certainly free to follow the statute. Last year, a federal court upheld this law.

B. Types of responses

There are three possible responses to a request:

1. provide the records;
2. obtain seven additional days to respond; or,
3. claim an exemption to all or a portion of the request.

The initial response must be made within five business days of the receipt of the request, pursuant to § 2.2-3704, regardless of which response is used. If the custodian fails to respond within the times required, § 2.2-3704 considers that to be a denial of the request and makes it a violation of the act.

Notably, the custodian is not required to create records if they do not exist. § 2.2-3704. For example, if a request is for a list of trash collectors who do business in a locality, and the locality does not have such information, there is no requirement to create that list. Subsection D does encourage public bodies to abstract or summarize information in a manner agreed to with the requester.

1. Provide the records. The first response: providing the records is straightforward. The custodian simply makes them available. If the individual asks to receive copies, the copies need to be made within the five days, if possible, or at such time the custodian and requester agree.

In a June 1, 1999 opinion, the attorney general opined that a local commissioner of the revenue is not required to make a copy of the personal property book for a citizen. The personal property book is a large, computer-generated bound book that every commissioner maintains. The attorney general reasoned that the act allows the commissioner to put the burden of copying on the citizen if the office has no means to copy the document. The same reasoning would apply to other local government agencies where the agency is incapable of providing requested information stored on electronic databases. § 2.2-3704.G.

2. Obtain seven additional days to respond. Similarly, if it is "not practically possible to provide the ... records or to determine whether they are available," § 2.2-3704, within the five days, the custodian may send a written response to the person explaining the conditions that make the response impractical. Upon compliance with this requirement, the custodian will have an additional seven workdays to respond. The added seven days does not begin until the end of the fifth day of the initial period. For example, if the custodian sends a letter on the second day after receipt of the request, he or she will still have a total of 12 workdays to respond.

One unanswered question is whether the custodian may claim more time to respond based on the time it takes to determine whether an exemption applies. The quoted language above uses the term "available." It is not clear whether deciding if an exemption applies is included in determining whether records are available. In discussions with the Virginia Press Association during the 2000 committee meetings on changes to the act, the VPA spokesman represented that the association would not contest a custodian's obtaining extra time to determine if exemptions apply. No court has answered the issue.

In addition to the 12 days to reply, a public body may petition a court for even more time to respond to a request. The additional time will likely be granted if the public body can demonstrate that the volume of records requested is so large that it would disrupt its operations to respond in the prescribed time and that it is unable to reach an agreement for a time to respond with the requester. § 2.2-3704.

3. Claim a partial or full exemption to the request. If one or more of the many exemptions apply, the custodian may, within the five workday limit, send the requester a written explanation of why all or some of the records are exempt. The explanation must identify the subject matter of the records (example: performance evaluations) and must cite the section of FOIA that authorizes the exemption. § 2.2-3704. If only a portion of the requested records is exempt, the non-exempt parts must be made available within the five days, unless additional time is properly invoked.

In 1999, the Virginia Supreme Court decided Lawrence v. Jenkins, 258 Va. 598, a case in which a county zoning administrator failed to supply the code section he was relying on to exempt certain information in response to a FOIA request. The act required the code sections to be identified in the written response to the requester. Long after the time to respond had passed, the administrator sent the individual a letter identifying the code section. The court ruled that the violation still did not permit the individual to see the records and ruled that the records were exempt. Even though the zoning administrator did fail to meet FOIA requirements, the court determined the violation did not harm the requestor because he would not have been allowed to see the records if the act had been complied with. VML does not recommend relying on Lawrence.

Charges for responding to a request

The public body may charge the requester for searching and copying records. The costs must be reasonable, not to exceed the actual cost "incurred in accessing, duplicating, supplying, or searching for the requested records." § 2.2-3704. A public body may not charge for overhead items, such as utilities, debt payments and the like. The hourly salary rate of any local employee who spends time researching and assembling records for the request may be charged, as may actual copying costs.

In responding to a request for duplication of part of a geographic information system database by making copies of GIS maps, the locality may base its charge on a per acre cost if the area requested exceeds 50 acres.

If the custodian determines that the cost of responding will be more than $200, he may demand the requester to agree to pay a deposit in the amount of the projected costs before any information is disclosed. The time limits are tolled until payment of the deposit. The custodian is not required to send the estimate in writing, though providing a written estimate is the better practice, in order to avoid a claim by the individual that no deposit was requested.

Format of records

Confusingly, the custodian must provide computer records in any "tangible medium identified by the requester," § 2.2-3704, except that it need not produce the material found in an electronic database in "a format not regularly used by the public body." The subsection is further confused by a statement that provides – not withstanding this limitation – the public body is to attempt to come to an agreement with the requester regarding the format of the documents to be supplied. Thus, a public body does not have to disclosure electronic records in a format it does not regularly use, but must comply with any request for records maintained in a medium the public body uses in the regular course of business.

E-mails

E-mails have generated much controversy since they began being used in government business operation. E-mails that deal with public business are public records. E-mails kept on the home computer of a council member or local government employee that relate to the transaction of public business are public and subject to inspection and copying by a citizen who makes a request to see the records.

Draft documents

Draft documents are records. The specific mention of draft records is to the minutes of a public body. Section § 2.2-3707 specifically states that draft minutes are available for inspection. Some local governments once had policies that forbid the public from viewing draft minutes. The act prohibits such policies. Some draft documents fall into the working papers exemption. In that case, or if any other exemption applies, the draft documents are not required to be made available for inspection.

C. Exemptions list.

The list of records that may be held exempt from disclosure by the custodian is set out in seven separate, lengthy sections. Fortunately, the sections are arranged by subject area in order to make it easier to find the exemptions that may apply.

The current sections are:

- Exclusions of general application to public bodies: § 2.2-3705.1.
- Exclusions; records relating to public safety: § 2.2-3705.2.
- Exclusions; records relating to administrative investigations: § 2.2-3705.3.
- Exclusions; educational records and certain records of educational institutions: § 2.2-3705.4.
- Exclusions; health and social services records: § 2.2-3705.5.
- Exclusions; proprietary records and trade secrets: § 2.2-3705.6.
- Exclusions; records of specific public bodies and certain other limited exemptions: § 2.2-3705.7.

Most local governments will only use 20 or so of the exemptions, and only 10 will apply frequently. The exemptions that most often apply to local government are:

- "State income, business, and estate tax returns, personal property tax returns, scholastic and confidential records held pursuant to § 58.1-3." § 2.2-3705.7.1
- "Personnel records containing information concerning identifiable individuals, except that access shall not be denied to the person who is the subject thereof." § 2.2-3705.1.1. Any adult subject may waive confidentiality, in which case the government may release information on the person.
- "Working papers and correspondence of the ... mayor or chief executive officer of any political subdivision of the Commonwealth .... However, no record which is otherwise open to inspection under this chapter shall be deemed exempt by virtue of the fact that it has been attached to or incorporated within any working paper or correspondence. § 2.2-3705.7.2.

  As used in this subdivision: "Working papers" means those records prepared by or for an above named public official for his personal or deliberative use. Generally, once the records have been shared by the chief administrative officer (county administrator or city or town manager), the records lose the working papers status, unless the records are collected from the council members or other people who have accessed them at the end of a meeting where the records were distributed.
- Consultants' reports as working papers: Working papers, by the above definition, applies to records prepared by or for a manager or mayor for his personal or deliberative use. Once a consultant's report is distributed or disclosed to council or the council has scheduled any action on a matter that is the subject of the consultant's report, the report loses its exempt status as a working paper.

§ 2.2-3705.8.B. Therefore, until either of the two conditions occur, the report may be withheld as a working paper. Once either event occurs, the working paper's status ceases to exist. If the report is exempt for other reasons, it remains exempt.

- "Written advice of legal counsel to state, regional or local public bodies or public officials, and any other records protected by the attorney client privilege." § 2.2-3705.1.2.
- "Legal memoranda and other work product compiled specifically for use in litigation or for use in an active administrative investigation concerning a matter which is properly the subject of a closed meeting under § 2.2-3711." § 2.2-3705.1.3.

  Subsections 2 and 3 of § 2.2-3705.1 are the classic attorney client and attorney's work product rules.
- "Library records which can be used to identify both (i) any library patron who has borrowed material from a library and (ii) the material such patron borrowed." § 2.2-3705.7.3.
- "Any test or examination used, administered or prepared by any public body for purposes of evaluation of (i) any student or any student's performance, (ii) any employee or employment seeker's qualifications or aptitude for employment, retention, or promotion, or (iii) qualifications for any license or certificate issued by a public body." § 2.2-3705.1.4. This subsection includes exemptions for test keys and any information that would defeat the usefulness of the test.
- "Records recorded in or compiled exclusively for use in closed meetings lawfully held pursuant to § 2.1-344. However, no record which is otherwise open to inspection under this chapter shall be deemed exempt by virtue of the fact that it has been reviewed or discussed in a closed meeting." § 2.2-3705.1.5.
- "Computer software developed by or for a ... political subdivision of the Commonwealth." § 2.2-705.1.7.
- "Customer account information of a public utility affiliated with a political subdivision of the Commonwealth, including the customer's name and service address, but excluding the amount of utility service provided and the amount of money paid for such utility service." § 2.2-3705.7.7. Note that under this subsection, anyone has access to the volume of service used by a customer and the price paid, even though the name and address of a customer need not be given. A typical example of how this works: An individual could not demand a listing of the names of customers, but could demand to know how much water, gas, or electricity a customer has used and the amount paid for the same, where the person names the customer.
- "Appraisals and cost estimates of real property subject to a proposed purchase, sale or lease, prior to the completion of such purchase, sale or lease." § 2.2-3705.1.8.

  This section has been modified by Va. Code § 25-248. Local governments are now in the list of agencies that must follow the Uniform Relocation Assistance Act. One of the obligations, in subsection (b) requires that: "real property shall be appraised before the initiation of negotiations, and the owner or his designated representative shall be given an opportunity to accompany the appraiser during his inspection of the property." Therefore, in any purchase of land to which the URAA applies, the landowner must be allowed to see a copy of the appraisal, and the appraisal must be done before beginning negotiations for the land.
- "Confidential information designated as provided in (submitting a bid in procurement regulated by the Procurement Act) as trade secrets or proprietary information by any person who has submitted to a public body an application for prequalification to bid on public construction projects in accordance with subsection B of § 11-46." § 2.2-3705.6.10. Language in the Procurement Act supports this exemption.
- Plans to prevent or respond to terrorist activity, to the extent such records set forth specific tactics, or specific security or emergency procedures, the disclosure of which would jeopardize the safety of governmental personnel or the general public, or the security of any governmental facility, building, structure, or information storage system. § 2.2-705.2.4.
- Engineering and architectural drawings, operational, procedural, tactical planning or training manuals, staff meeting minutes or other records, the disclosure of which would reveal surveillance techniques, personnel deployments, alarm or security systems or technologies, or operational and transportation plans or protocols, to the extent such disclosure would jeopardize the security of any governmental facility, building or structure or the safety of persons using such facility, building or structure. § 2.2-3705.2.6.

These two subsections help localities maintain security without having a risk of terrorists or other people gaining access to the security information.

- Personal information, as defined in § 2.2-3801, including electronic mail addresses, furnished to a public body for the purpose of receiving electronic mail from the public body, provided that the electronic mail recipient has requested that the public body not disclose such information. However, access shall not be denied to the person who is the subject of the record. § 2.2-3705.1.10.
- The name, address and phone number of a person complaining about another person on a zoning, building code or Fire Prevention Code complaint are exempt from disclosure. The new provision is not limited to criminal complaints: it applies in any investigation of the complaints. § 2.2-3705.3.10. Building Code and Fire Prevention Codes complaints were added in 2009.

D. Criminal incident information.

The majority of the rules for criminal incident information are set out in § 2.2-3706. The section's basic requirement is that "criminal incident information" has to be made available only if it applies to a felony. This means that local law enforcement officials do not have to make misdemeanor criminal incident information available. The policy behind the distinction between misdemeanors and felonies is based on the probable burden that would be shouldered by local police departments and sheriff's offices if required to make public information about every misdemeanor.

There are several exemptions that allow a law enforcement agency to withhold information in order to promote public safety and to not hinder ongoing criminal investigations. If release would hinder an investigation or be likely to cause the criminal to flee or destroy evidence, it need not be released. Once the reason for concern has ended, the exemption no longer applies. However, § 2.2-3706.A.1 b&c requires the names of adult arrestees and the status of charges or arrests to be released.

The identities of crime victims and confidential informants do not need to be released. There is no time limit on this exemption. Thus, unlike other information, the exemption continues even after the reason for concern ceases to exist.

Various other criminal records are exempt:

- complaints, memos, correspondence and evidence that is not "criminal incident information;"
- photos of adult arrestees, if release would harm an investigation or prosecution;
- confidential reports made to the police or sheriffs personnel;
- local crime commission information identifying persons providing information about criminal activity; and,
- neighborhood watch program information that contains the names, addresses or schedules of the watch participants, if the information is provided under a promise of anonymity.

The provision exempting law-enforcement records containing police and other tactical plans that need to be kept secure for safety reasons is set out in § 2.2-3706.A.2.e.

Section 15.2-1722 obligates each police chief and sheriff to maintain records about arrests, investigations and incidents to promote efficient law enforcement operation. Section 2.2-3706 clarifies that those records are subject to FOIA, except information of a "personal, medical or financial nature," if the release would jeopardize the safety or privacy of a person. Also exempt are undercover operation plans, background checks of law enforcement job applicants and confidential administrative investigations.

Section 2.2-3706.A.2.g exempts from disclosure the mobile phone and pager numbers of police officers for devices provided by the police department to assist the officers in carrying out their duties. This arose from attempts by reporters to obtain the cell phone numbers of police officers, then calling while the officers were on a call.

Rights of penal institution inmates under FOIA

Section 2.2-3703.C denies people who are in a local jail or state or federal penitentiary any rights under FOIA. The only rights are those guaranteed by the constitution, such as the right to subpoena evidence.

Enforcement provisions

Any person who feels a public body or public official has violated the act may file suit in the general district or circuit court of the locality where the body or official operates. § 2.2-3713. A FOIA action may commence in the name of a person, even if the plaintiff's attorney, acting on his or her behalf, made the original FOIA request. The case must be heard within seven days of filing. § 2.2-3713. As a practical matter, this rocket docket provision inconveniences judges greatly, as their court schedules are usually very busy. Saturday hearings are common for FOIA cases.

The petitioner must state a claim of a violation with reasonable specificity, pursuant to subsection D. Even though a suit is filed by the complaining citizen, the public body must put on its evidence first and must prove that it has complied with the act. It is not the petitioner's obligation to prove the violation. § 2.2-3713.

The court may award an injunction against repeated violations, or even for a single occurrence of noncompliance. Further, if the petitioner wins the case, he may be awarded attorneys fees by the court.

If the court determines that an official willfully or knowingly violated the law, it is required to impose a civil penalty against him or her in an amount between $500 and $2,000 for a first offense and $2,000 to $5,000 for subsequent offenses. The penalties are to be paid into the Literary Fund. § 2.2-3714.

Freedom of Information Advisory Council

The Freedom of Information Advisory Council serves primarily as an office to answer questions about FOIA made by government agencies, the public and the media. An attorney who staffs the office makes the opinions of the council. The opinions are to be informal, advisory and nonbinding. If a government agency submits records for a review and advice by the FOIA officer, the officer may not release the submitted information without the permission of the agency that submitted them.

The office has a toll free number (866) 448-4100 for requests, and has a website: http://dls.state.va.us/ foiacouncil.htm. The council has lists of written opinions on the website.

In addition to issuing opinions, which may be made via telephone, letter or e-mail, the office conducts FOIA training for government agencies. Because public officials must read and familiarize themselves with the act, the training sessions are an important opportunity to learn the act's requirements.

Summary

The Freedom of Information Act includes many requirements and restrictions pertaining to public access of government information. The basic policy woven throughout the act makes clear that the public is to have free access to government information and meetings. The act sets out the types of meetings that can be closed. The exemptions protect the operation of government reasonably well.

FOIA will continue to evolve to meet the changing expectations of the public and government agencies. In the area of electronic information, expect to see significant changes as the General Assembly makes the act more relevant in the fast changing electronic age. For example, application of the act to the use of e-mail, instant messaging and other social media software will likely be revisited.

We hope this guide will help local governments serve the public more effectively. Questions or comments for future editions should be sent to the author, Mark K. Flynn, VML general counsel, at (804) 523-8525 or mflynn@vml.org.

Title 2.2. Administration of Government
Subtitle II. Administration of State Government
Part B. Transaction of Public Business
Chapter 37. Virginia Freedom of Information Act

§ 2.2-3700. Short title; policy

A. This chapter may be cited as "The Virginia Freedom of Information Act."

B. By enacting this chapter, the General Assembly ensures the people of the Commonwealth ready access to public records in the custody of a public body or its officers and employees, and free entry to meetings of public bodies wherein the business of the people is being conducted. The affairs of government are not intended to be conducted in an atmosphere of secrecy since at all times the public is to be the beneficiary of any action taken at any level of government. Unless a public body or its officers or employees specifically elect to exercise an exemption provided by this chapter or any other statute, every meeting shall be open to the public and all public records shall be available for inspection and copying upon request. All public records and meetings shall be presumed open, unless an exemption is properly invoked.

The provisions of this chapter shall be liberally construed to promote an increased awareness by all persons of governmental activities and afford every opportunity to citizens to witness the operations of government. Any exemption from public access to records or meetings shall be narrowly construed and no record shall be withheld or meeting closed to the public unless specifically made exempt pursuant to this chapter or other specific provision of law. This chapter shall not be construed to discourage the free discussion by government officials or employees of public matters with the citizens of the Commonwealth.

All public bodies and their officers and employees shall make reasonable efforts to reach an agreement with a requester concerning the production of the records requested.

Any ordinance adopted by a local governing body that conflicts with the provisions of this chapter shall be void.

§ 2.2-3701. Definitions

As used in this chapter, unless the context requires a different meaning:

"Closed meeting" means a meeting from which the public is excluded.

"Electronic communication" means any audio or combined audio and visual communication method.

"Emergency" means an unforeseen circumstance rendering the notice required by this chapter impossible or impracticable and which circumstance requires immediate action.

"Meeting" or "meetings" means the meetings including work sessions, when sitting physically, or through telephonic or video equipment pursuant to § 2.2-3708 or 2.2-3708.1, as a body or entity, or as an informal assemblage of (i) as many as three members or (ii) a quorum, if less than three, of the constituent membership, wherever held, with or without minutes being taken, whether or not votes are cast, of any public body. The gathering of employees of a public body shall not be deemed a "meeting" subject to the provisions of this chapter.

"Open meeting" or "public meeting" means a meeting at which the public may be present.

"Public body" means any legislative body, authority, board, bureau, commission, district or agency of the Commonwealth or of any political subdivision of the Commonwealth, including cities, towns and counties, municipal councils, governing bodies of counties, school boards and planning commissions; boards of visitors of public institutions of higher education; and other organizations, corporations or agencies in the Commonwealth supported wholly or principally by public funds. It shall include (i) the Virginia Birth-Related Neurological Injury Compensation Program and its board of directors established pursuant to Chapter 50 (§ 38.2-5000 et seq.) of Title 38.2 and (ii) any committee, subcommittee, or other entity however designated, of the public body created to perform delegated functions of the public body or to advise the public body. It shall not exclude any such committee, subcommittee or entity because it has private sector or citizen members. Corporations organized by the Virginia Retirement System are "public bodies" for purposes of this chapter.

For the purposes of the provisions of this chapter applicable to access to public records, constitutional officers shall be considered public bodies and, except as otherwise expressly provided by law, shall have the same obligations to disclose public records as other custodians of public records.

"Public records" means all writings and recordings that consist of letters, words or numbers, or their equivalent, set down by handwriting, typewriting, printing, photostatting, photography, magnetic impulse, optical or magneto-optical form, mechanical or electronic recording or other form of data compilation, however stored, and regardless of physical form or characteristics, prepared or owned by, or in the possession of a public body or its officers, employees or agents in the transaction of public business. Records that are not prepared for or used in the transaction of public business are not public records.

"Regional public body" means a unit of government organized as provided by law within defined boundaries, as determined by the General Assembly, whose members are appointed by the participating local governing bodies, and such unit includes two or more counties or cities.

"Scholastic records" means those records containing information directly related to a student or an applicant for admission and maintained by a public body that is an educational agency or institution or by a person acting for such agency or institution.

§ 2.2-3702. Notice of chapter

Any person elected, reelected, appointed or reappointed to any body not excepted from this chapter shall (i) be furnished by the public body's administrator or legal counsel with a copy of this chapter within two weeks following election, reelection, appointment or reappointment and (ii) read and become familiar with the provisions of this chapter.

§ 2.2-3703. Public bodies and records to which chapter inapplicable; voter registration and election records; access by persons incarcerated in a state, local, or federal correctional facility

Effective: July 1, 2007

A. The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to:

1. The Virginia Parole Board, except that (i) information from the Virginia Parole Board providing the number of inmates considered by such Board for discretionary parole, the number of inmates granted or denied parole, and the number of parolees returned to the custody of the Department of Corrections solely as a result of a determination by such Board of a violation of parole shall be open to inspection and available for release, on a monthly basis, as provided by § 2.2-3704 and (ii) all records concerning the finances of the Virginia Parole Board shall be public records and subject to the provisions of this chapter. The information required by clause (i) shall be furnished by offense, sex, race, age of the inmate, and the locality in which the conviction was obtained, upon the request of the party seeking the information;
2. Petit juries and grand juries;
3. Family assessment and planning teams established pursuant to § 2.2r-5207;
4. The Virginia State Crime Commission; and
5. The records required by law to be maintained by the clerks of the courts of record, as defined in § 1-212, and courts not of record, as defined in § 16.1-69.5. However, other records maintained by the clerks of such courts shall be public records and subject to the provisions of this chapter.

B. Public access to voter registration and election records shall be governed by the provisions of Title 24.2 and this chapter. The provisions of Title 24.2 shall be controlling in the event of any conflict.

C. No provision of this chapter or Chapter 21 (§ 30-178 et seq.) of Title 30 shall be construed to afford any rights to any person (i) incarcerated in a state, local or federal correctional facility, whether or not such facility is (a) located in the Commonwealth or (b) operated pursuant to the Corrections Private Management Act (§ 53.1-261 et seq.) or (ii) civilly committed pursuant to the Sexually Violent Predators Act (§ 37.2-900 et seq.). However, this subsection shall not be construed to prevent such persons from exercising their constitutionally protected rights, including, but not limited to, their right to call for evidence in their favor in a criminal prosecution.

§ 2.2-3704. Public records to be open to inspection; procedure for requesting records and responding to request; charges; transfer of records for storage, etc.

Effective: July 1, 2011

A. Except as otherwise specifically provided by law, all public records shall be open to inspection and copying by any citizens of the Commonwealth during the regular office hours of the custodian of such records. Access to such records shall not be denied to citizens of the Commonwealth, representatives of newspapers and magazines with circulation in the Commonwealth, and representatives of radio and television stations broadcasting in or into the Commonwealth. The custodian may require the requester to provide his name and legal address. The custodian of such records shall take all necessary precautions for their preservation and safekeeping.

B. A request for public records shall identify the requested records with reasonable specificity. The request need not make reference to this chapter in order to invoke the provisions of this chapter or to impose the time limits for response by a public body. Any public body that is subject to this chapter and that is the custodian of the requested records shall promptly, but in all cases within five working days of receiving a request, provide the requested records to the requester or make one of the following responses in writing:

1. The requested records are being entirely withheld because their release is prohibited by law or the custodian has exercised his discretion to withhold the records in accordance with this chapter. Such response shall identify with reasonable particularity the volume and subject matter of withheld records, and cite, as to each category of withheld records, the specific Code section that authorizes the withholding of the records.
2. The requested records are being provided in part and are being withheld in part because the release of part of the records is prohibited by law or the custodian has exercised his discretion to withhold a portion of the records in accordance with this chapter. Such response shall identify with reasonable particularity the subject matter of withheld portions, and cite, as to each category of withheld records, the specific Code section that authorizes the withholding of the records. When a portion of a requested record is withheld, the public body may delete or excise only that portion of the record to which an exemption applies and shall release the remainder of the record.
3. The requested records could not be found or do not exist. However, if the public body that received the request knows that another public body has the requested records, the response shall include contact information for the other public body.
4. It is not practically possible to provide the requested records or to determine whether they are available within the five-work-day period. Such response shall specify the conditions that make a response impossible. If the response is made within five working days, the public body shall have an additional seven work days in which to provide one of the four preceding responses.

C. Any public body may petition the appropriate court for additional time to respond to a request for records when the request is for an extraordinary volume of records or requires an extraordinarily lengthy search, and a response by the public body within the time required by this chapter will prevent the public body from meeting its operational responsibilities. Before proceeding with the petition, however, the public body shall make reasonable efforts to reach an agreement with the requester concerning the production of the records requested.

D. Subject to the provisions of subsection G, no public body shall be required to create a new record if the record does not already exist. However, a public body may abstract or summarize information under such terms and conditions as agreed between the requester and the public body.

E. Failure to respond to a request for records shall be deemed a denial of the request and shall constitute a violation of this chapter.

F. A public body may make reasonable charges not to exceed its actual cost incurred in accessing, duplicating, supplying, or searching for the requested records. No public body shall impose any extraneous, intermediary or surplus fees or expenses to recoup the general costs associated with creating or maintaining records or transacting the general business of the public body. Any duplicating fee charged by a public body shall not exceed the actual cost of duplication. The public body may also make a reasonable charge for the cost incurred in supplying records produced from a geographic information system at the request of anyone other than the owner of the land that is the subject of the request. However, such charges shall not exceed the actual cost to the public body in supplying such records, except that the public body may charge, on a pro rata per acre basis, for the cost of creating topographical maps developed by the public body, for such maps or portions thereof, which encompass a contiguous area greater than 50 acres. All charges for the supplying of requested records shall be estimated in advance at the request of the citizen.

G. Public records maintained by a public body in an electronic data processing system, computer database, or any other structured collection of data shall be made available to a requester at a reasonable cost, not to exceed the actual cost in accordance with subsection F. When electronic or other databases are combined or contain exempt and nonexempt records, the public body may provide access to the exempt records if not otherwise prohibited by law, but shall provide access to the nonexempt records as provided by this chapter.

Public bodies shall produce nonexempt records maintained in an electronic database in any tangible medium identified by the requester, including, where the public body has the capability, the option of posting the records on a website or delivering the records through an electronic mail address provided by the requester, if that medium is used by the public body in the regular course of business. No public body shall be required to produce records from an electronic database in a format not regularly used by the public body. However, the public body shall make reasonable efforts to provide records in any format under such terms and conditions as agreed between the requester and public body, including the payment of reasonable costs. The excision of exempt fields of information from a database or the conversion of data from one available format to another shall not be deemed the creation, preparation or compilation of a new public record.

H. In any case where a public body determines in advance that charges for producing the requested records are likely to exceed $200, the public body may, before continuing to process the request, require the requester to agree to payment of a deposit not to exceed the amount of the advance determination. The deposit shall be credited toward the final cost of supplying the requested records. The period within which the public body shall respond under this section shall be tolled for the amount of time that elapses between notice of the advance determination and the response of the requester.

I. Before processing a request for records, a public body may require the requester to pay any amounts owed to the public body for previous requests for records that remain unpaid 30 days or more after billing.

J. In the event a public body has transferred possession of public records to any entity, including but not limited to any other public body, for storage, maintenance, or archiving, the public body initiating the transfer of such records shall remain the custodian of such records for purposes of responding to requests for public records made pursuant to this chapter and shall be responsible for retrieving and supplying such public records to the requester. In the event a public body has transferred public records for storage, maintenance, or archiving and such transferring public body is no longer in existence, any public body that is a successor to the transferring public body shall be deemed the custodian of such records. In the event no successor entity exists, the entity in possession of the public records shall be deemed the custodian of the records for purposes of compliance with this chapter, and shall retrieve and supply such records to the requester. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to apply to records transferred to the Library of Virginia for permanent archiving pursuant to the duties imposed by the Virginia Public Records Act (§ 42.1-76 et seq.). In accordance with § 42.1-79, the Library of Virginia shall be the custodian of such permanently archived records and shall be responsible for responding to requests for such records made pursuant to this chapter.

The following records are excluded from the provisions of this chapter but may be disclosed by the custodian in his discretion, except where such disclosure is prohibited by law:

1. Personnel records containing information concerning identifiable individuals, except that access shall not be denied to the person who is the subject thereof. Any person who is the subject of any personnel record and who is 18 years of age or older may waive, in writing, the protections afforded by this subdivision. If the protections are so waived, the public body shall open such records for inspection and copying.
2. Written advice of legal counsel to state, regional or local public bodies or the officers or employees of such public bodies, and any other records protected by the attorney-client privilege.
3. Legal memoranda and other work product compiled specifically for use in litigation or for use in an active administrative investigation concerning a matter that is properly the subject of a closed meeting under § 2.2-3711.
4. Any test or examination used, administered or prepared by any public body for purposes of evaluation of (i) any student or any student's performance, (ii) any employee or employment seeker's qualifications or aptitude for employment, retention, or promotion, or (iii) qualifications for any license or certificate issued by a public body.

As used in this subdivision, "test or examination" shall include (a) any scoring key for any such test or examination and (b) any other document that would jeopardize the security of the test or examination. Nothing contained in this subdivision shall prohibit the release of test scores or results as provided by law, or limit access to individual records as provided by law. However, the subject of such employment tests shall be entitled to review and inspect all records relative to his performance on such employment tests.

When, in the reasonable opinion of such public body, any such test or examination no longer has any potential for future use, and the security of future tests or examinations will not be jeopardized, the test or examination shall be made available to the public. However, minimum competency tests administered to public school children shall be made available to the public contemporaneously with statewide release of the scores of those taking such tests, but in no event shall such tests be made available to the public later than six months after the administration of such tests.

5. Records recorded in or compiled exclusively for use in closed meetings lawfully held pursuant to § 2.2-3711. However, no record that is otherwise open to inspection under this chapter shall be deemed exempt by virtue of the fact that it has been reviewed or discussed in a closed meeting.
6. Vendor proprietary information software that may be in the official records of a public body. For the purpose of this subdivision, "vendor proprietary software" means computer programs acquired from a vendor for purposes of processing data for agencies or political subdivisions of the Commonwealth.

However, nothing in this subdivision shall prohibit the disclosure of information taken from inactive reports upon expiration of the period of limitations for the filing of a civil suit.
10. Personal information, as defined in § 2.2-3801, including electronic mail addresses, furnished to a public body for the purpose of receiving electronic mail from the public body, provided that the electronic mail recipient has requested that the public body not disclose such information. However, access shall not be denied to the person who is the subject of the record.
11. Communications and materials required to be kept confidential pursuant to § 2.2-4119 of the Virginia Administrative Dispute Resolution Act (§ 2.2-4115 et seq.).
12. Records relating to the negotiation and award of a specific contract where competition or bargaining is involved and where the release of such records would adversely affect the bargaining position or negotiating strategy of the public body. Such records shall not be withheld after the public body has made a decision to award or not to award the contract. In the case of procurement transactions conducted pursuant to the Virginia Public Procurement Act (§ 2.2-4300 et seq.), the provisions of this subdivision shall not apply, and any release of records relating to such transactions shall be governed by the Virginia Public Procurement Act.
13. Those portions of records that contain account numbers or routing information for any credit card, debit card, or other account with a financial institution of any person or public body. However, access shall not be denied to the person who is the subject of the record. For the purposes of this subdivision, "financial institution" means any organization authorized to do business under state or federal laws relating to financial institutions, including, without limitation, banks and trust companies, savings banks, savings and loan companies or associations, and credit unions.

§ 2.2-3705.2. Exclusions to application of chapter; records relating to public safety

Effective: July 1, 2013

The following records are excluded from the provisions of this chapter but may be disclosed by the custodian in his discretion, except where such disclosure is prohibited by law:

1. Confidential records, including victim identity, provided to or obtained by staff in a rape crisis center or a program for battered spouses.
2. Those portions of engineering and construction drawings and plans submitted for the sole purpose of complying with the Building Code in obtaining a building permit that would identify specific trade secrets or other information, the disclosure of which would be harmful to the competitive position of the owner or lessee. However, such information shall be exempt only until the building is completed. Information relating to the safety or environmental soundness of any building shall not be exempt from disclosure.

   Those portions of engineering and construction drawings and plans that reveal critical structural components, security equipment and systems, ventilation systems, fire protection equipment, mandatory building emergency equipment or systems, elevators, electrical systems, telecommunications equipment and systems, and other utility equipment and systems submitted for the purpose of complying with the Uniform Statewide Building Code (§ 36-97 et seq.) or the Statewide Fire Prevention Code (§ 27-94 et seq.), the disclosure of which would jeopardize the safety or security of any public or private commercial office, multifamily residential or retail building or its occupants in the event of terrorism or other threat to public safety, to the extent that the owner or lessee of such property, equipment or system in writing (i) invokes the protections of this paragraph; (ii) identifies the drawings, plans, or other materials to be protected; and (iii) states the reasons why protection is necessary.

   Nothing in this subdivision shall prevent the disclosure of information relating to any building in connection with an inquiry into the performance of that building after it has been subjected to fire, explosion, natural disaster or other catastrophic event.
3. Documentation or other information that describes the design, function, operation or access control features of any security system, whether manual or automated, which is used to control access to or use of any automated data processing or telecommunications system.
4. The same categories of records of any governmental or nongovernmental person or entity submitted to a public body for the purpose of antiterrorism response planning may be withheld from disclosure if such person or entity in writing (a) invokes the protections of this subdivision, (b) identifies with specificity the records or portions thereof for which protection is sought, and (c) states with reasonable particularity why the protection of such records from public disclosure is necessary to meet the objective of antiterrorism planning or protection. Such statement shall be a public record and shall be disclosed upon request. Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to prohibit the disclosure of records relating to the structural or environmental soundness of any building, nor shall it prevent the disclosure of information relating to any building in connection with an inquiry into the performance of that building after it has been subjected to fire, explosion, natural disaster or other catastrophic event.
5. Information that would disclose the security aspects of a system safety program plan adopted pursuant to 49 C.F.R. Part 659 by the Commonwealth's designated Rail Fixed Guideway Systems Safety Oversight agency; and information in the possession of such agency, the release of which would jeopardize the success of an ongoing investigation of a rail accident or other incident threatening railway safety.

6. Engineering and architectural drawings, operational, procedural, tactical planning or training manuals, or staff meeting minutes or other records, the disclosure of which would reveal surveillance techniques, personnel deployments, alarm or security systems or technologies, or operational and transportation plans or protocols, to the extent such disclosure would jeopardize the security of any governmental facility, building or structure or the safety of persons using such facility, building or structure.

7. Security plans and specific assessment components of school safety audits, as provided in § 22.1-279.8.

   Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to prohibit the disclosure of records relating to the effectiveness of security plans after (i) any school building or property has been subjected to fire, explosion, natural disaster or other catastrophic event, or (ii) any person on school property has suffered or been threatened with any personal injury.

8. Expired.

9. Records of the Commitment Review Committee concerning the mental health assessment of an individual subject to commitment as a sexually violent predator under Chapter 9 (§ 37.2-900 et seq.) of Title 37.2; except that in no case shall records identifying the victims of a sexually violent predator be disclosed.

10. Subscriber data, which for the purposes of this subdivision, means the name, address, telephone number, and any other information identifying a subscriber of a telecommunications carrier, provided directly or indirectly by a telecommunications carrier to a public body that operates a 911 or E-911 emergency dispatch system or an emergency notification or reverse 911 system, if the data is in a form not made available by the telecommunications carrier to the public generally. Nothing in this subdivision shall prevent the release of subscriber data generated in connection with specific calls to a 911 emergency system, where the requester is seeking to obtain public records about the use of the system in response to a specific crime, emergency or other event as to which a citizen has initiated a 911 call.

11. Subscriber data, which for the purposes of this subdivision, means the name, address, telephone number, and any other information identifying a subscriber of a telecommunications carrier, collected by a local governing body in accordance with the Enhanced Public Safety Telephone Services Act (§ 56-484.12 et seq.), and other identifying information of a personal, medical, or financial nature provided to a local governing body in connection with a 911 or E-911 emergency dispatch system or an emergency notification or reverse 911 system, if such records are not otherwise publicly available. 12. Records of the Virginia Military Advisory Council or any commission created by executive order for the purpose of studying and making recommendations regarding preventing closure or realignment of federal military and national security installations and facilities located in Virginia and relocation of such facilities to Virginia, or a local or regional military affairs organization appointed by a local governing body, to the extent such records (i) contain information relating to strategies under consideration or development by the Council or such commission or organizations to prevent the closure or realignment of federal military installations located in Virginia or the relocation of national security facilities located in Virginia, to limit the adverse economic effect of such realignment, closure, or relocation, or to seek additional tenant activity growth from the Department of Defense or federal government or (ii) disclose trade secrets, as defined in the Uniform Trade Secrets Act (§ 59.1-336 et seq.), provided to the Council or such commission or organizations in connection with their work. In order to invoke the trade secret protection provided by clause (ii), the submitting entity shall, in writing and at the time of submission (a) invoke this exclusion, (b) identify with specificity the information for which such protection is sought, and (c) state the reason why such protection is necessary. Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to authorize the withholding of all or part of any record, other than a trade secret that has been specifically identified as required by this subdivision, after the Department of Defense or federal agency has issued a final, unappealable decision, or in the event of litigation, a court of competent jurisdiction has entered a final, unappealable order concerning the closure, realignment, or expansion of the military installation or tenant activities, or the relocation of the national security facility, for which records are sought.

13. Documentation or other information as determined by the State Comptroller that describes the design, function, operation, or implementation of internal controls over the Commonwealth's financial processes and systems, and the assessment of risks and vulnerabilities of those controls, including the annual assessment of internal controls mandated by the State Comptroller, the disclosure of which would jeopardize the security of the Commonwealth's financial assets. However, records relating to the investigation of and findings concerning the soundness of any fiscal process shall be disclosed in a form that does not compromise internal controls. Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to prohibit the Auditor of Public Accounts or the Joint Legislative Audit and Review Commission from reporting internal control deficiencies discovered during the course of an audit.
14. Documentation or other information relating to the Statewide Agencies Radio System (STARS) or any other similar local or regional public safety communications system that (i) describes the design, function, programming, operation, or access control features of the overall system, components, structures, individual networks, and subsystems of the STARS or any other similar local or regional communications system or (ii) relates to radio frequencies assigned to or utilized by STARS or any other similar local or regional communications system, code plugs, circuit routing, addressing schemes, talk groups, fleet maps, encryption, programming maintained by or utilized by STARS or any other similar local or regional public safety communications system; those portions of engineering and construction drawings and plans that reveal critical structural components, interconnectivity, security equipment and systems, network monitoring, network operation center, master sites, ventilation systems, fire protection equipment, mandatory building emergency equipment, electrical systems, and other utility equipment and systems related to STARS or any other similar local or regional public safety communications system; and special event plans, operational plans, storm plans, or other pre-arranged programming, the disclosure of which would reveal surveillance techniques, personnel deployments, alarm or security systems or technologies, or operational and transportation plans or protocols, to the extent such disclosure would jeopardize the security of any governmental facility, building, or structure or the safety of any person.
15. Records of a salaried or volunteer Fire/EMS company or Fire/EMS department, to the extent that the records disclose the telephone numbers for cellular telephones, pagers, or comparable portable communication devices provided to its personnel for use in the performance of their official duties.

Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to prohibit the disclosure of records relating to the effectiveness of executed evacuation plans after the occurrence of fire, explosion, natural disaster, or other catastrophic event.

If an investigation does not lead to corrective action, the identity of the person who is the subject of the complaint may be released only with the consent of the subject person. Local governing bodies shall adopt guidelines to govern the disclosure required by this subdivision.

8. However, this section shall not prohibit the disclosure of records to (i) a local school board or division superintendent for the purpose of permitting such board or superintendent to consider or to take personnel action with regard to an employee or (ii) any requester, after the conclusion of a review or investigation, in a form that (a) does not reveal the identity of any person making a complaint or supplying information to the Board on a confidential basis and (b) does not compromise the security of any test mandated by the Board.

Records of completed investigations shall be disclosed in a form that does not reveal the identity of any complainant or person supplying information to investigators. The records disclosed shall include information regarding the school or facility involved, the identity of the person who was the subject of the complaint, the nature of the complaint, and the actions taken to resolve the complaint. However, records related to an investigation that has been inactive for more than six months shall, upon request, be disclosed provided such disclosure is not otherwise prohibited by law and does not reveal the identity of charging parties, complainants, persons supplying information, witnesses or other individuals involved in the investigation.

§ 2.2-3705.4. Exclusions to application of chapter; educational records and certain records of educational institutions

Effective: July 1, 2010

The following records are excluded from the provisions of this chapter but may be disclosed by the custodian in his discretion, except where such disclosure is prohibited by law:

1. Scholastic records containing information concerning identifiable individuals, except that such access shall not be denied to the person who is the subject thereof, or the parent or legal guardian of the student. However, no student shall have access to (i) financial records of a parent or guardian or (ii) records of instructional, supervisory, and administrative personnel and educational personnel ancillary thereto, that are in the sole possession of the maker thereof and that are not accessible or revealed to any other person except a substitute.

The parent or legal guardian of a student may prohibit, by written request, the release of any individual information regarding that student until the student reaches the age of 18 years. For scholastic records of students under the age of 18 years, the right of access may be asserted only by his legal guardian or parent, including a noncustodial parent, unless such parent's parental rights have been terminated or a court of competent jurisdiction has restricted or denied such access. For scholastic records of students who are emancipated or attending a state-supported institution of higher education, the right of access may be asserted by the student.

Any person who is the subject of any scholastic record and who is 18 years of age or older may waive, in writing, the protections afforded by this subdivision. If the protections are so waived, the public body shall open such records for inspection and copying.

2. Confidential letters and statements of recommendation placed in the records of educational agencies or institutions respecting (i) admission to any educational agency or institution, (ii) an application for employment, or (iii) receipt of an honor or honorary recognition.

3. Records of the Brown v. Board of Education Scholarship Awards Committee relating to personally identifiable information, including scholarship applications, personal financial information, and confidential correspondence and letters of recommendation.

4. Data, records or information of a proprietary nature produced or collected by or for faculty or staff of public institutions of higher education, other than the institutions' financial or administrative records, in the conduct of or as a result of study or research on medical, scientific, technical or scholarly issues, whether sponsored by the institution alone or in conjunction with a governmental body or a private concern, where such data, records or information has not been publicly released, published, copyrighted or patented.

5. All records of the University of Virginia or the University of Virginia Medical Center or Eastern Virginia Medical School, as the case may be, that contain proprietary, business-related information pertaining to the operations of the University of Virginia Medical Center or Eastern Virginia Medical School, as the case may be, including business development or marketing strategies and activities with existing or future joint venturers, partners, or other parties with whom the University of Virginia Medical Center or Eastern Virginia Medical School, as the case may be, has formed, or forms, any arrangement for the delivery of health care, if disclosure of such information would be harmful to the competitive position of the Medical Center or Eastern Virginia Medical School, as the case may be.

6. Personal information, as defined in § 2.2-3801, provided to the Board of the Virginia College Savings Plan or its employees by or on behalf of individuals who have requested information about, applied for, or entered into prepaid tuition contracts or savings trust account agreements pursuant to Chapter 4.9 (§ 23-38.75 et seq.) of Title 23. Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to prohibit disclosure or publication of information in a statistical or other form that does not identify individuals or provide personal information. Individuals shall be provided access to their own personal information.

7. Records maintained in connection with fundraising activities by or for a public institution of higher education to the extent that such records reveal (i) personal fundraising strategies relating to identifiable donors or prospective donors or (ii) wealth assessments; estate, financial, or tax planning information; health-related information; employment, familial, or marital status information; electronic mail addresses, facsimile or telephone numbers; birth dates or social security numbers of identifiable donors or prospective donors. Nothing in this subdivision, however, shall be construed to authorize the withholding of records relating to the amount, date, purpose, and terms of the pledge or donation, or the identity of the donor unless the donor has requested anonymity in connection with or as a condition of making a pledge or donation. The exclusion provided by this subdivision shall not apply to protect from disclosure (i) the identities of sponsors providing grants to or contracting with the institution for the performance of research services or other work or (ii) the terms and conditions of such grants or contracts.

8. Records of a threat assessment team established by a public institution of higher education pursuant to § 23-9.2:10 relating to the assessment or intervention with a specific individual. However, in the event an individual who has been under assessment commits an act, or is prosecuted for the commission of an act that has caused the death of, or caused serious bodily injury, including any felony sexual assault, to another person, the records of such threat assessment team concerning the individual under assessment shall be made available as provided by this chapter, with the exception of any criminal history records obtained pursuant to § 19.2-389 or 19.2-389.1, health records obtained pursuant to § 32.1-127.1:03, or scholastic records as defined in § 22.1-289. The public body providing such records shall remove information identifying any person who provided information to the threat assessment team under a promise of confidentiality.

B. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as denying public access to the nonexempt portions of a report of a consultant hired by or at the request of a local public body or the mayor or chief executive or administrative officer of such public body if (i) the contents of such report have been distributed or disclosed to members of the local public body or (ii) the local public body has scheduled any action on a matter that is the subject of the consultant's report.

Nothing in subdivision a shall be construed to authorize the withholding of those portions of such information that are not likely to cause the above-referenced damage;

b. 3. Prohibited releases. The identity of any individual providing information about a crime or criminal activity under a promise of anonymity shall not be disclosed.

B. Noncriminal records. Records (i) required to be maintained by law-enforcement agencies pursuant to § 15.2-1722 or (ii) maintained by other public bodies engaged in criminal law-enforcement activities shall be subject to the provisions of this chapter except that those portions of noncriminal incident or other noncriminal investigative reports or materials that contain identifying information of a personal, medical, or financial nature may be withheld where the release of such information would jeopardize the safety or privacy of any person. Access to personnel records of persons employed by a law-enforcement agency shall be governed by the provisions of subdivision A 2 i of this section and subdivision 1 of § 2.2-3705.1, as applicable.

C. Records of any call for service or other communication to an emergency 911 system or communicated with any other equivalent reporting system shall be subject to the provisions of this chapter.

The notice provisions of this chapter shall not apply to informal meetings or gatherings of the members of the General Assembly.

H. Any person may photograph, film, record or otherwise reproduce any portion of a meeting required to be open. The public body conducting the meeting may adopt rules governing the placement and use of equipment necessary for broadcasting, photographing, filming or recording a meeting to prevent interference with the proceedings, but shall not prohibit or otherwise prevent any person from photographing, filming, recording, or otherwise reproducing any portion of a meeting required to be open. No public body shall conduct a meeting required to be open in any building or facility where such recording devices are prohibited.

I. Minutes shall be recorded at all open meetings. However, minutes shall not be required to be taken at deliberations of (i) standing and other committees of the General Assembly; (ii) legislative interim study commissions and committees, including the Virginia Code Commission; (iii) study committees or commissions appointed by the Governor; or (iv) study commissions or study committees, or any other committees or subcommittees appointed by the governing bodies or school boards of counties, cities and towns, except where the membership of any such commission, committee or subcommittee includes a majority of the governing body of the county, city or town or school board.

§ 2.2-3712. Closed meetings procedures; certification of proceedings

Effective: July 1, 2012

A. No closed meeting shall be held unless the public body proposing to convene such meeting has taken an affirmative recorded vote in an open meeting approving a motion that (i) identifies the subject matter, (ii) states the purpose of the meeting and (iii) makes specific reference to the applicable exemption from open meeting requirements provided in § 2.2-3707 or subsection A of § 2.2-3711. The matters contained in such motion shall be set forth in detail in the minutes of the open meeting. A general reference to the provisions of this chapter, the authorized exemptions from open meeting requirements, or the subject matter of the closed meeting shall not be sufficient to satisfy the requirements for holding a closed meeting.

B. The notice provisions of this chapter shall not apply to closed meetings of any public body held solely for the purpose of interviewing candidates for the position of chief administrative officer. Prior to any such closed meeting for the purpose of interviewing candidates, the public body shall announce in an open meeting that such closed meeting shall be held at a disclosed or undisclosed location within 15 days thereafter.

C. The public body holding a closed meeting shall restrict its discussion during the closed meeting only to those matters specifically exempted from the provisions of this chapter and identified in the motion required by subsection A.

D. At the conclusion of any closed meeting, the public body holding such meeting shall immediately reconvene in an open meeting and shall take a roll call or other recorded vote to be included in the minutes of that body, certifying that to the best of each member's knowledge (i) only public business matters lawfully exempted from open meeting requirements under this chapter and (ii) only such public business matters as were identified in the motion by which the closed meeting was convened were heard, discussed or considered in the meeting by the public body. Any member of the public body who believes that there was a departure from the requirements of clauses (i) and (ii), shall so state prior to the vote, indicating the substance of the departure that, in his judgment, has taken place. The statement shall be recorded in the minutes of the public body.

E. Failure of the certification required by subsection D to receive the affirmative vote of a majority of the members of the public body present during a meeting shall not affect the validity or confidentiality of such meeting with respect to matters considered therein in compliance with the provisions of this chapter. The recorded vote and any statement made in connection therewith, shall upon proper authentication, constitute evidence in any proceeding brought to enforce the provisions of this chapter.

F. A public body may permit nonmembers to attend a closed meeting if such persons are deemed necessary or if their presence will reasonably aid the public body in its consideration of a topic that is a subject of the meeting.

G. A member of a public body shall be permitted to attend a closed meeting held by any committee or subcommittee of that public body, or a closed meeting of any entity, however designated, created to perform the delegated functions of or to advise that public body. Such member shall in all cases be permitted to observe the closed meeting of the committee, subcommittee or entity. In addition to the requirements of § 2.2-3707, the minutes of the committee or other entity shall include the identity of the member of the parent public body who attended the closed meeting.

H. Except as specifically authorized by law, in no event may any public body take action on matters discussed in any closed meeting, except at an open meeting for which notice was given as required by § 2.2-3707.

I. Minutes may be taken during closed meetings of a public body, but shall not be required. Such minutes shall not be subject to mandatory public disclosure.

§ 2.2-3713. Proceedings for enforcement of chapter

A. Any person, including the attorney for the Commonwealth acting in his official or individual capacity, denied the rights and privileges conferred by this chapter may proceed to enforce such rights and privileges by filing a petition for mandamus or injunction, supported by an affidavit showing good cause. Such petition may be brought in the name of the person notwithstanding that a request for public records was made by the person's attorney in his representative capacity. Venue for the petition shall be addressed as follows:

1. In a case involving a local public body, to the general district court or circuit court of the county or city from which the public body has been elected or appointed to serve and in which such rights and privileges were so denied;
2. In a case involving a regional public body, to the general district or circuit court of the county or city where the principal business office of such body is located; and
3. In a case involving a board, bureau, commission, authority, district, institution, or agency of the state government, including a public institution of higher education, or a standing or other committee of the General Assembly, to the general district court or the circuit court of the residence of the aggrieved party or of the City of Richmond.

B. In any action brought before a general district court, a corporate petitioner may appear through its officer, director or managing agent without the assistance of counsel, notwithstanding any provision of law or Rule of the Supreme Court of Virginia to the contrary.

C. Notwithstanding the provisions of § 8.01-644, the petition for mandamus or injunction shall be heard within seven days of the date when the same is made, provided the party against whom the petition is brought has received a copy of the petition at least three working days prior to filing. The hearing on any petition made outside of the regular terms of the circuit court of a locality that is included in a judicial circuit with another locality or localities shall be given precedence on the docket of such court over all cases that are not otherwise given precedence by law.

D. The petition shall allege with reasonable specificity the circumstances of the denial of the rights and privileges conferred by this chapter. A single instance of denial of the rights and privileges conferred by this chapter shall be sufficient to invoke the remedies granted herein. If the court finds the denial to be in violation of the provisions of this chapter, the petitioner shall be entitled to recover reasonable costs, including costs and reasonable fees for expert witnesses, and attorneys' fees from the public body if the petitioner substantially prevails on the merits of the case, unless special circumstances would make an award unjust. In making this determination, a court may consider, among other things, the reliance of a public body on an opinion of the Attorney General or a decision of a court that substantially supports the public body's position.

E. In any action to enforce the provisions of this chapter, the public body shall bear the burden of proof to establish an exemption by a preponderance of the evidence. Any failure by a public body to follow the procedures established by this chapter shall be presumed to be a violation of this chapter.

F. Failure by any person to request and receive notice of the time and place of meetings as provided in § 2.2-3707 shall not preclude any person from enforcing his rights and privileges conferred by this chapter.

§ 2.2-3714. Violations and penalties

In a proceeding commenced against any officer, employee, or member of a public body under § 2.2-3713 for a violation of § 2.2-3704, 2.2-3705.1 through 2.2-3705.8, 2.2-3706, 2.2-3707, 2.2-3708, 2.2-3708.1, 2.2-3710, 2.2-3711 or 2.2-3712, the court, if it finds that a violation was willfully and knowingly made, shall impose upon such officer, employee, or member in his individual capacity, whether a writ of mandamus or injunctive relief is awarded or not, a civil penalty of not less than $500 nor more than $2,000, which amount shall be paid into the State Literary Fund. For a second or subsequent violation, such civil penalty shall be not less than $2,000 nor more than $5,000.

Virginia Conflict of Interests Act

Guide for Local Government Officials

Introduction

The Virginia Conflict of Interests Act regulates the financial relationship of council members and mayors with their city or town and with any other governmental agency that is related to the city or town. The act is intended to be the one-stop-shopping law for a council member's financial involvement in dealings with the city or town.

It regulates how involved a council member may be in an item being considered by council if he or she has a financial interest in that item. The act also defines what constitutes bribery and taking unfair advantage of information gained by reason of being on council. It sets penalties for violations and provides a procedural framework for its enforcement.

The Conflict of Interests Act is codified in Title 2.2, Chapter 31 of the Code of Virginia, § 2.2-3100 and following. While this guide describes the general operation of the law, the reader should consult the law's specific language for a better understanding (code references are given throughout the chapter). Furthermore, a council member with questions about a contract or transaction should consult the city or town attorney.

Purpose of the act

The first section of the act, Va. Code § 2.2-3100, sets out the purpose of the law, citing three main goals:

1. To help ensure that the government will fully represent the public in its operation;
2. To give citizens confidence in public officials and the government so they will trust the government, by creating a clear set of rules for government officials; and,
3. To assemble all the laws affecting conflict of interests in a single location in order to create uniform rules. (While COIA largely accomplishes this purpose, additional rules are stated in the Virginia Procurement Act and in various other code sections.)

The act contains three general areas of regulation (listed below). The act also has procedural, enforcement and penalty provisions that apply to the three substantive areas of the law.

What's New

COIA What's New

The General Assembly amended two sections of the conflicts act in the 2012 session:

Last year, the definition of personal interest in a transaction was amended so that no conflict exists if a local governing body appoints one of its officers or employees to a governmental agency and the appointee, or a member of the appointee's immediate family, continues to receive compensation or benefits from the local governing body. In the 2013 session, the rule was further expanded to apply to an employee or officer of a government agency created by the local governing body. That employee or officer may be appointed to another public agency and fully participate, without creating a conflict due to his or her primary employment.

Va. Code § 2.2-3101 "personal interest in atransaction" definition. this is aimed at eliminating conflict problems in the common practice of a city manager being named as an ex-officio member of a regional water authority or other entity.

Areas of regulation

The act regulates the financial relationship of council members in their localities in three general areas:

1. General provisions covering bribes and other illegal behavior.
2. Regulation of financial interests a council member may have in business dealings with his or her locality and with agencies related to his or her locality. The act calls this a personal interest in a contract.
3. Regulation of the level of involvement a person, in his role as a council member or other public office or job, may have in an item being considered by the member's locality that involves the member's business, property or other personal financial interest. The act calls this a personal interest in a transaction.

I. Generally Prohibited Conduct

Bribes and other illegal behavior

Section 2.2-3103 prohibits public officials from taking or soliciting bribes and from allowing money to influence their actions. This section applies to a person's actions as a government official; the prohibitions are not aimed at private businesses that may offer the bribes.

The act prohibits a council member from soliciting or accepting money or benefits for doing his or her work as a public official. § 2.2-3103.1. An example would be a council member who takes money for voting on a rezoning to help a developer build a large project. Similarly, a council member may not offer or take money in exchange for landing himself or herself or another person a job with a government agency, or in exchange for obtaining a contract or business deal with the government. §§ 2.2-3103.1 & 3103.2.

Undue influence

One step below the outright bribery rule is the prohibition on taking gifts and opportunities while serving as a public official. §§ 2.2-3103.5, 6, 8 & 9. The act prohibits a council member from accepting money, loans, gift, services, business opportunities, or other benefits if it is reasonable to construe that the benefit was given to influence the council member in his or her duties. An exception is made for political campaign contributions – but only if the contribution is used for a political campaign or constituent service purposes and is reported pursuant to the campaign disclosure laws.

A typical example of this issue for cities and towns is when a large developer gives Christmas gifts of substantial value to the members of council. Whether the gift complies with the act is a judgment call in most cases. Is a Christmas turkey reasonable if the developer is also giving the same gift to his employees, his business associates, and his materials suppliers? The circumstances of the specific case usually indicate whether the gifts are appropriate.

A council member is also prohibited from taking benefits if he or she knows it is being offered to influence him or her. § 2.2-3103.6. Therefore, even if the gift is not unreasonable, the council member may not accept it if the circumstances or statements of the person giving it make it clear that the money is being given to influence the council member.

A further prohibition is aimed at gifts given by a private party looking for a specific action by the government. § 2.2-3103.8. It prohibits a council member from accepting a gift from a private party whose interests can be affected by the council member's actions, where the timing of the gift would lead a reasonable person to question whether the gift is being given to influence the council member. For example, if the day before an important council vote on a rezoning, the applicant for that rezoning gives the council member $2,000 and calls it a campaign contribution, it would be reasonable to think the money was given to influence the vote. Also, if a council member accepts gifts so often that it creates the appearance that he or she accepts gifts for doing his or her job, that behavior constitutes a violation. § 2.2-3103.9. Violations of these two prohibitions may not be the basis for a criminal charge.

Local governments may adopt an ordinance to limit the dollar value of gifts to the officials and employees of the locality. § 2.2-3104.2. A $50 limit is often used. While this amount is arbitrary, it does make it simpler for all involved to know what behavior is permissible. Whether or not the locality adopts an ordinance limiting gift amounts, if an award is made to a local government employee for meritorious service by an entity that is a 501(c)(3) charitable organization, there is no conflict and no limit on the gift.

Insider information

It is a violation of the act for a public official to use information not available to the public for his or her own or another person's economic benefit. § 2.2-3103.4. For council members, this prohibition is sometimes unfairly alleged. For example, a local businessman on council who pays attention to public plans submitted to the locality and buys land around the project is not violating the provision. Envious business folks, however, may allege a violation of insider information due to the appearance of the situation. When their actions are based on publicly available information, council members have nothing to fear from such claims.

II. Regulation of council member's actions as citizen.

Personal interest in a contract

The act sets forth what financial interests a council member may have in business dealings with his or her locality and with agencies related to his or her locality.

§ 2.2-3107. The act calls this a personal interest in a contract. While this guide's discussion is limited to the restrictions on council members, the act also sets forth different restrictions for school board members (§ 2.2-3108) and for local government employees (§ 2.2-3109). Council members need to keep in mind the restrictions on the employees of a city or town as they carry out their duties and watch over the affairs of the locality.

According to § 2.2-3107, "no person elected or appointed as a member of the governing body of a county, city or town" shall have "a personal interest in a contract" with his or her city or town or with certain other government agencies. (The definition of a personal interest in a contract is described below.)

The council member may not have a personal interest in a contract with any agency of his or her locality, including the departments of the city or town. In addition, he or she may not have a personal interest in a contract with any government agency that is under the council's ultimate control. For example, if the council appoints a library board, then council members would have ultimate control over the library. Therefore, a council member could not be involved in a contract with the library board.

This section of the act also prohibits involvement in a contract with any agency if the council appoints a majority of the members of that agency's governing body. For example, if the locality is a member of a regional jail and its council appoints four of the jail board's seven members, then a council member would be prohibited from being involved in a contract with the jail board.

Definition of personal interest and personal interest in a contract

The act only prohibits a council member's participation if he or she has a personal interest in the contract with one of the agencies described. The definition of "personal interest in a contract" has two parts: "a personal interest" and a "personal interest in a contract." § 2.2-3101.

Personal interest. The definition of a personal interest is the key building block of the act. The term is used throughout. A personal interest exists if any one of the following tests is met:

1. The council member owns at least 3 percent of the equity of a business.
2. The council member has annual income that is or reasonably could be in excess of $10,000 from owning real or personal property or from owning a business.
3. The council member has a salary from the business involved in a contract that exceeds or reasonably could exceed $10,000 annually.
4. The council member's ownership interest in property exceeds $10,000.
5. The council member's liability for a business exceeds 3 percent of the equity of the business.
6. The council member has an option on property and, upon exercise of the option, his or her ownership will meet the levels in either test 1 or 4, above.

Immediate family. In addition to the council member, if any person in the council member's immediate family has one of the six types of a personal interest, the personal interest exists for the council member. The term immediate family always includes the person's spouse. The term also includes anyone else living in the home who is the council member's dependent, or the council member is a dependent of that person. This will generally mean the children of the council member. If the child, however, is self-supporting and is not the dependent of the council member, the child would not be included. The dependent need not be related to the council member. If the financial support and living arrangements provisions are met, then the person counts as immediate family.

As this definition demonstrates, if a council member's wife has a personal interest in a business that would like to contract with the city, the contract is prohibited even though the husband/council member has no involvement.

Personal interest in a contract. If the council member's involvement meets any one of the six definitions of a personal interest, the next step is determining whether the council member has a personal interest in the contract in question. According to the act's definition, a council member has a personal interest in a contract with a government agency if that contract is with the council member or with a business in which he or she has a personal interest. § 2.2-3101.

In looking at a particular contract, it is important to ask: Is a council member or his or her business or property involved in the contract? Does that council member have a personal interest as defined by the act? The answers to these questions will help determine if the contract is prohibited under the act.

Situations where conflicts do not exist

Some situations are not conflicts under the act, even though they may appear to be natural conflicts. If a council member earns a total salary of $9,900 per year from a business, that business could contract with the locality, because the council member would not have a personal interest for purposes of the act. As the third test of the definition – salary - shows, the salary must exceed $10,000 per year to create a personal interest.

If a council member serves on the board of a charitable entity, the fact that the council member has divided loyalties between the charity and the locality does not create a conflict, so long as the council member serves on the charity's board for less than $10,000 compensation per year and doesn't own as much as three percent of the equity of the charity. § 2.2-3110.

Exceptions to conflicts in contracts

The act sets out a series of exceptions to the prohibitions on having a personal interest in a contract.

Exceptions that apply only to council members. Several exceptions are specific to council members. § 2.2-3107

1. A council member may be an employee of the locality as long as the employment predates his appointment or election to council. § 2.2-3107.B.1. This section of the law also allows employment and service on council if the person was an employee prior to July 1, 1983, whether or not he or she was elected to council after that date. Even though the law allows employees to serve on council, some localities have banned the practice by charter or by local regulation. If an employee serves on council, he or she will regularly run into potential conflicts when matters come before council that affect his or her employment, such as salary and discipline decisions. (This issue is explored below, in the section on personal interests in a transaction).
2. A council member may buy goods or services from his or her locality as long as they are made available to the public at uniform prices. § 2.2-3107.B.2.
3. A council member may sell goods to his or her locality if the following conditions are met, pursuant to § 2.2-3107.B.3:

   a. The purchase must be made by competitive sealed bidding. Therefore, if the contract is being solicited by a request for proposals, the exception doesn't apply.

   b. The contract must be for goods, not services, and the need for the goods must have been established prior to the person's coming on council. An example is if the city needs a tractor, if a council member has a tractor dealership, and if the city had bought tractors prior to the council member's election.

   c. The council member who wants to sell to the locality must play no role in preparing the specifications for the purchase.

   d. The remaining members of council must pass a resolution in writing that the council member's bidding on the contract is in the public interest.

   Note: this exception does not apply to providing services, rather only goods. For example, a council member who is an accountant could not provide auditing services to his or her town or city.

Exceptions that apply to all local government officials and employees. The following eight exceptions to the prohibition on having a personal interest in a contract apply not only to council members, but to all other local government officials and employees as well. § 2.2-3110.A

1. Any sale, lease, or exchange of real property between a council member and his or her locality is allowed as long as the council member doesn't participate in the deal on behalf of council, and the fact that the member wasn't involved is recorded in the public record of the government involved in the transaction. The reason for this exception is that each parcel of real estate is deemed to be unique. If a city needs a certain lot or parcel, the fact that a council member owns it should not prohibit the purchase by the city. § 2.2-3110.A.1.
2. The prohibition does not apply to contracts for the publication of official notices, presumably so that the local newspaper may be used for ads required by state law even when a council member is an owner or employee of that paper. This is a balancing of needs: the state code requires many notices to be run in the local paper. Without this exception, those requirements could not be met. § 2.2-3110.A.2.
3. For towns and cities with a population under 10,000, contracts between a council member and his or her locality are allowed, despite the general prohibition, if the total of those contracts does not exceed $10,000 per year. Further, contracts up to $25,000 are allowed if the contract is let by competitive sealed bidding. This higher level only applies if the public official has filed a statement of economic interests form. Every council member must file that form, so the requirement does not create an added obligation, unless the locality has a population of less than 3,500. § 2.2-3110.A.3.

4. If the sole personal interest the council member has in the contract is his or her employment by the contracting business and has an annual salary exceeding $10,000, the business may contract with the locality. For this exception to apply, the council member and members of his or her immediate family must have no authority to participate in the deal, and must not participate in the deal. Further, the council member must not participate in the deal on behalf of the locality. A typical example is a contract with a large engineering firm that is the council member's employer. § 2.2-3110.A.4.
5. If the council member is employed by a public service corporation, a bank, a savings and loan association, or a public utility, and if he or she disqualifies himself from participating on behalf of the city or town and does not participate for his or her locality, then the utility, bank, etc., may contract with the locality. § 2.2-3110.A.6.
6. The prohibition does not apply to contracts for goods or services below $500. But if a locality normally purchased paper on an annual contract, for example, could it split up a year's worth of paper contracts so that each is less than $500? While the section is silent on splitting up a larger contract to meet this exception, the consensus is that this circumvention would violate the law. § 2.2-3110.A.7.
7. Program grants made to a council member are allowed if the rates or amounts paid to all qualified applicants are uniform and are established solely by the agency administering the grants. § 2.2-3110.A.8.
8. If the spouse of a council member is employed by the locality, the personal interest prohibition does not apply if the spouse was employed by the agency more than five years prior to marrying the council member. § 2.2-3110.A.9. If one spouse is the supervisor of the other spouse, the conflict does not exist if the subordinate spouse earns less than $35,000 per year. § 2.2-3110.B.

III. Council member's participation as public official

Personal interest in a transaction

The rule concerning a personal interest in a transaction sets out the level of involvement a council member may have in an item being considered by his or her council (the transaction) that involves his or her business, property, or other personal financial interest. § 2.2-3112.

As with a personal interest in a contract, the first step is to determine whether the council member has a personal interest in the transaction. The same definition of a personal interest is used in the transactions provisions as in the contracts provisions, but the definition of personal interest in a transaction goes beyond the definition of a personal interest in a contract.

Definition of transaction & personal interest in a transaction

Transaction. In the context of a city or town council, a transaction is defined as any matter considered by the council, a council committee or subcommittee, or any department, agency, or board of the locality, if any official action is taken or is being contemplated. § 2.2-3101.

Personal interest in a transaction. This term is broadly defined as a personal interest of a council member "in any matter considered by his [locality]". § 2.2-3101. Specifically, a personal interest in a transaction exists if a council member or immediate family member has a personal interest (as defined in Part II) in property, business, or governmental agency – or represents/provides services to any individual or business property – and the property, business, or represented/served individual or business either (1) is the subject of the transaction, or (2) may realize a reasonably foreseeable benefit or detriment as the result of the transaction.

A typical example of representing or servicing and individual or business is where the council member is an accountant and his or her accounting firm handles the books of the business that is the subject of the transaction. Another common example is where the council member or spouse is a principal in an engineering firm that represents an applicant for a land-use permit before council. In these cases, the council member may well have a personal interest in the transaction unless he or she is not directly involved in the representation. An example of a reasonably foreseeable benefit is a council member who loaned $100,000 to a developer, and the developer needs a rezoning to repay the loan.

In practice, if a matter comes before council or a council committee or involves any department of the locality, and a council member has a personal interest in the subject matter or represents the business involved, the council member must then follow the act's requirements for his or her participation in § 2.2-3112 (discussed below in "Levels of transactions" section).

Exceptions and limitation on conflicts

A personal interest in a transaction does not exist if the council member serves on a not-for-profit board without pay and neither the council member nor his immediate family has a personal interest in the not-for-profit organization.

No conflict exists if an employee or council member of a locality is appointed by his locality to an ex-officio role in a governmental agency and the conflict exists solely due to the employment with the locality or the employment by the locality is of his or her spouse. See the amendment definition of "personal interest in a transaction" in § 2.2-3101.

The act provides in § 2.2-3112.B that if a council member is disqualified from participating in the transaction, he or she may still represent his private interests before council as long as he or she isn't paid for the representation and discloses the nature of his or her interest.

Other employees

Section 2.2-3109 sets out the rules for other government employees having a personal interest in a transaction. The section also contains a list of exceptions that apply to the employees of the government agencies in the locality. Those rules and exceptions do not apply to council members. For example, an employee's spouse may contract with the locality to provide services (for example, accounting) if certain conditions are met. In contrast, a council member's spouse could not provide services to the locality.

Levels of transactions

The fact that a council member has a personal interest in a transaction before council does not automatically require that the member disqualify himself or herself. The act's requirements for participation, if a personal interest in the transaction does exist, set out three levels of transactions. § 2.2-3112.A.

1. If the transaction deals solely with property, a business, or a government agency in which the council member has a personal interest, then the council member must disqualify himself or herself. The provision further states that disqualification is required if the transaction applies solely to a business that is a parent-subsidiary (holds more than a 50% controlling interest) or considered an affiliated business (where the same owner or manager controls both businesses) to the business that in which the council member has a personal interest.
2. If the transaction affects a business, profession, occupation or group of three or more members that the council member belongs to, the council member may participate in the transaction only if he or she completes a disclosure form, described in the "Disclosures" section, below. § 2.2-3112.A.2. For example, if a council votes on the tax rate for professionals, and if the council member is an attorney, that puts him in the subject group affected by the professional license tax. If a town only has two attorneys, then the council member/attorney must disqualify himself or herself from participating.
3. If the transaction affects the public generally, the council member may participate. A council member may obviously vote on raising taxes, even though it affects him or her, because it affects the public generally. In comparing items 2 and 3, many transactions are considered to affect the public generally, even though not every member of the public is affected. For example, the real estate tax applies only to property owners, but it is considered to affect the general public.

Additional exception

If the council member is in a firm that represents the subject of the transaction, but the council member does not personally represent the subject in the transaction, he or she may participate in the council discussion if a disclosure form, described below, is completed. § 2.2-3112.A.3.

Effects of disqualification

If a council member is disqualified from participating in a transaction, the act requires several steps. § 2.2-3112:

1. The council member must disclose the interest that causes the disqualification by identifying the interest, including the name and address of the business or property. § 2.2-3115.E. The disclosure is required whether the law requires the disqualification or the council member voluntarily disqualifies himself out of an abundance of caution.

2. The disclosure must be kept for five years in the records of the council.
3. The council member may not vote on or participate in discussion on the transaction.
4. The council member may not attend the portion of a closed meeting at which the transaction is discussed.
5. The council member may not discuss the matter with anyone in the government who is involved in the transaction.

Savings clause for certain votes

The act contains a savings clause to allow the remainder of council to vote when disqualifications rob the council of a quorum. § 2.2-3112.C. The council may act by a vote of the majority of the members who are not disqualified. Even if the law requires a unanimous vote, it only has to be by a unanimous vote of the remaining members. This provision would seem to have the odd result of having only one member of a seven-member council being able to vote and fulfill a unanimous vote requirement if the other six members are disqualified. One caution - the Virginia Supreme Court has ruled that when there are disqualifications, and a vote is taken using this savings clause, the disqualified members of council must remain present to maintain a quorum. If the disqualified members leave the meeting, such that fewer members are present than required for a quorum – a quorum does not exist and the meeting cannot continue. See Jakabcin v. Front Royal, 271 Va. 660, 628 S.E.2d 319 (2006).

In order for a council to sell or lease land, state law requires a three-fourths vote of all people elected to council. § 15.2-2100. Section 2.2-3112.C of the act allows a council member to participate in a discussion and vote on a proposed sale, lease, or similar conveyance of land if the council member's only personal interest in that sale is that he or she is employed by the business that is subject to the contract for the deal.

IV. Disclosures

If a transaction affects a group, business, or profession as set forth in § 2.2-3112.A.2, the council member may participate if he or she certifies in good faith that he or she can represent the public fairly in the transaction. The certification requires the following elements to be identified - § 2.2-3115.G:

- The transaction;
- The nature of the personal interest;
- The fact that the council member is a member of a business, profession, occupation, or group that will be affected by the transaction;
- A statement that the council member is able to participate fairly, objectively, and in the public interest.

If the transaction affects a party that the council member's firm represents but the council member is not involved on behalf of the firm, the disclosure requires the following elements to be identified. § 2.2-3115.H:

- The transaction involved;
- The fact that a party to the transaction is a client of the council member's firm;
- A statement that the council member does not personally represent the client;
- A statement that the council member is able to participate fairly, objectively, and in the public interest.

If either of the disclosures is required, the council member must either state it at the meeting or file it in writing with the clerk of the council or the manager. A written disclosure should be filed before the meeting or, if that is impracticable, by the end of the following business day. § 2.2-3115.G, H. In both cases, the disclosure is public. VML advises that it is better to make the disclosure at the meeting, orally, when the transaction is on the floor. This conveys a clearer message of self-disqualification than simply handing the clerk a written statement. If the disqualification is handed in, instead of being announced, the public will wonder why the council member is not participating.

Annual Statement of Economic Interests form

In addition to transaction-specific disclosures, each council member of every locality with a population of more than 3,500 must file the annual Statement of Economic Interests form by Jan. 15 (§ 2.2-3115.A; the form is found in § 2.2-3117). The Virginia Secretary of the Commonwealth must distribute the forms each year to clerks of council by Nov. 30; the clerks, in turn, are to distribute them to council members and any others who must file. § 2.2-3115.A & C.

Council also may adopt an ordinance to require other officials and employees of the locality to file the statement of economic interests form pursuant to § 2.2-3115.A. Typically, this provision is used for the city or town manager, if at all; many localities do not require the form to be completed by any employees or officials. This is also attached as appendix A.

The council may require boards, commissions and councils it appoints to file a disclosure form. § 2.2-3115.B.

In localities with a population of more than 3,500, members of planning commissions, boards of zoning appeals, real estate assessors, and all county, city and town managers must file an annual disclosure of real estate interests. § 2.2-3115.F.

The section clarifies that no local government officer or employee is required to file any disclosures not specifically mentioned in the article.

The disclosure forms and additional information on filing them are available on the Secretary of the Commonwealth's COIA website: www.comonwealth.virginia.gov/index.cfm. Look for "Conflict of Interest" on the left margin of the the page.

V. Enforcement & penalties

Criminal penalties

A knowing violation of the Conflict of Interests Act is a Class 1 misdemeanor by § 2.2-3120. According to the act, a violation is knowingly made if the council member acts or refuses to act when he or she knows that the behavior is either prohibited or required by the act. An example of refusing to do a required act is a council member's refusal to file a disclosure form. A Class 1 misdemeanor has maximum penalties of one year in jail and a fine of $2,500.

Three other specific violations have a lower, Class 3 penalty (maximum $500 fine):

1. Failure to disqualify oneself from participating in a transaction.
2. Failure to file the annual statement of economic interests.
3. Failure to file the statement of reasons for a disqualification in a transaction.

Additional consequences for violations

In addition to the criminal consequences, if the council member is found guilty of a knowing violation, he is also guilty of malfeasance in office. In that case, the judge may order the forfeiture of the seat on council. § 2.2-3122.

If a contract is entered into that involves either a council member who violated the general provisions relating to bribes, insider information, and undue influence (§ 2.2-3103), or a violation of the "personal interest in a contract" provisions, the council may rescind the contract. In that case, an innocent contractor may not receive the profits he anticipated in the deal. The contractor may only receive a "reasonable value," according to § 2.2-3123.

If a council action involves a violation of "the personal interest in a transaction" requirements, the council may rescind the award of a contract or other decision made. In rescinding the action, the best interests of the locality and any third parties are to be considered. § 2.2-3112.C.

If a council member violates any of the general provisions related to bribes and other illegal behavior, the personal interest in a contract rules, or the personal interest in a transaction rules, any value he or she received from the deal is to be forfeited. If the violation was knowingly made, the judge may impose a civil penalty equal to the value received.

Advisory opinions

The law allows some opportunity to avoid a problem by setting up a process to obtain an opinion on the matter from the commonwealth's attorney, who is required by § 2.2-3126.B to issue advisory opinions on whether a fact situation constitutes a violation. In addition to issuing opinions, the commonwealth's attorney is charged with prosecuting violations of the act by local officials. If the council member gives the attorney all the relevant facts and the attorney determines that the council member is allowed by law to participate, the council member may not be prosecuted for doing so. § 2.2-3121.B. If the commonwealth's attorney opines that the facts constitute a violation, the council member then may ask the attorney general to review and override the local opinion. The law makes it clear that any written opinions are public records and are therefore available to the public.

If the council member obtains a written opinion from the town or city attorney, based on full disclosure of the facts, the council member may introduce the favorable opinion from the attorney upon challenge. § 2.2-3121.C.

Summary

The Virginia Conflict of Interests Act determines when public officials and employees have personal interests in public contracts or transactions, if those interests conflict with the officials' public duties, and how the officials should behave considering such a conflict. COIA dictates the terms for disclosure of public officials' personal, financial interests and decides when officials must disqualify themselves. The act also defines other types of conduct that public officials are prohibited from engaging in, including involvement in bribery, undue influence, and use of insider information.

Council members should always consult COIA's specific language if a potential conflict may arise. Inquiries about specific contracts or transactions should be directed to the relevant city or town attorney. We hope this guide will help local governments become better informed of their responsibilities if a prospective conflict may occur. Questions or comments for future editions should be sent to the author, VML General Counsel Mark K. Flynn, at (804) 523-8525 or mflynn@vml.org.

Title 2.2 Administration of Government
Subtitle I. Organization of State Government
Part E. State Officers and Employees
Chapter 31. State and Local Government Conflict of Interests Act

Includes all amendments effective July 1, 2012

Article 1. General Provisions

§ 2.2-3100. Policy; application; construction

The General Assembly, recognizing that our system of representative government is dependent in part upon (i) citizen legislative members representing fully the public in the legislative process and (ii) its citizens maintaining the highest trust in their public officers and employees, finds and declares that the citizens are entitled to be assured that the judgment of public officers and employees will be guided by a law that defines and prohibits inappropriate conflicts and requires disclosure of economic interests. To that end and for the purpose of establishing a single body of law applicable to all state and local government officers and employees on the subject of conflict of interests, the General Assembly enacts this State and Local Government Conflict of Interests Act so that the standards of conduct for such officers and employees may be uniform throughout the Commonwealth.

This chapter shall supersede all general and special acts and charter provisions which purport to deal with matters covered by this chapter except that the provisions of §§ 15.2-852, 15.2-2287, 15.2-2287.1, and 15.2-2289 and ordinances adopted pursuant thereto shall remain in force and effect. The provisions of this chapter shall be supplemented but not superseded by the provisions on ethics in public contracting in Article 6 (§ 2.2-4367 et seq.) of Chapter 43 of this title and ordinances adopted pursuant to § 2.2-3104.2 regulating receipt of gifts.

This chapter shall be liberally construed to accomplish its purpose.

§ 2.2-3100.1. Copy of chapter; review by officers and employees

Any person required to file a disclosure statement of personal interests pursuant to subsections A or B of § 2.2-3114, subsections A or B of § 2.2-3115 or § 2.2-3116 shall be furnished by the public body's administrator a copy of this chapter within two weeks following the person's election, reelection, employment, appointment or reappointment.

All officers and employees shall read and familiarize themselves with the provisions of this chapter.

§ 2.2-3101. Definitions

As used in this chapter:

"Advisory agency" means any board, commission, committee or post which does not exercise any sovereign power or duty, but is appointed by a governmental agency or officer or is created by law for the purpose of making studies or recommendations, or advising or consulting with a governmental agency.

"Affiliated business entity relationship" means a relationship, other than a parent-subsidiary relationship, that exists when (i) one business entity has a controlling ownership interest in the other business entity, (ii) a controlling owner in one entity is also a controlling owner in the other entity, or (iii) there is shared management or control between the business entities. Factors that may be considered in determining the existence of an affiliated business entity relationship include that the same person or substantially the same person owns or manages the two entities, there are common or commingled funds or assets, the business entities share the use of the same offices or employees, or otherwise share activities, resources or personnel on a regular basis, or there is otherwise a close working relationship between the entities.

"Business" means a corporation, partnership, sole proprietorship, firm, enterprise, franchise, association, trust or foundation, or any other individual or entity carrying on a business or profession, whether or not for profit.

"Contract" means any agreement to which a governmental agency is a party, or any agreement on behalf of a governmental agency that involves the payment of money appropriated by the General Assembly or political subdivision, whether or not such agreement is executed in the name of the Commonwealth, or some political subdivision thereof. "Contract" includes a subcontract only when the contract of which it is a part is with the officer's or employee's own governmental agency.

"Dependent" means a son, daughter, father, mother, brother, sister or other person, whether or not related by blood or marriage, if such person receives from the officer or employee, or provides to the officer or employee, more than one-half of his financial support.

"Employee" means all persons employed by a governmental or advisory agency, unless otherwise limited by the context of its use.

"Financial institution" means any bank, trust company, savings institution, industrial loan association, consumer finance company, credit union, broker-dealer as defined in § 13.1-501, or investment company or advisor registered under the federal Investment Advisors Act or Investment Company Act of 1940.

"Gift" means any gratuity, favor, discount, entertainment, hospitality, loan, forbearance, or other item having monetary value. It includes services as well as gifts of transportation, local travel, lodgings and meals, whether provided in-kind, by purchase of a ticket, payment in advance or reimbursement after the expense has been incurred. "Gift" shall not include any offer of a ticket or other admission or pass unless the ticket, admission, or pass is used. "Gift" shall not include honorary degrees and presents from relatives. For the purpose of this definition, "relative" means the donee's spouse, child, uncle, aunt, niece, or nephew; a person to whom the donee is engaged to be married; the donee's or his spouse's parent, grandparent, grandchild, brother, or sister; or the donee's brother's or sister's spouse.

"Governmental agency" means each component part of the legislative, executive or judicial branches of state and local government, including each office, department, authority, post, commission, committee, and each institution or board created by law to exercise some regulatory or sovereign power or duty as distinguished from purely advisory powers or duties. Corporations organized or controlled by the Virginia Retirement System are "governmental agencies" for purposes of this chapter.

"Immediate family" means (i) a spouse and (ii) any other person residing in the same household as the officer or employee, who is a dependent of the officer or employee or of whom the officer or employee is a dependent.

"Officer" means any person appointed or elected to any governmental or advisory agency including local school boards, whether or not he receives compensation or other emolument of office. Unless the context requires otherwise, "officer" includes members of the judiciary.

"Parent-subsidiary relationship" means a relationship that exists when one corporation directly or indirectly owns shares possessing more than 50 percent of the voting power of another corporation.

"Personal interest" means a financial benefit or liability accruing to an officer or employee or to a member of his immediate family. Such interest shall exist by reason of (i) ownership in a business if the ownership interest exceeds three percent of the total equity of the business; (ii) annual income that exceeds, or may reasonably be anticipated to exceed, $10,000 from ownership in real or personal property or a business; (iii) salary, other compensation, fringe benefits, or benefits from the use of property, or any combination thereof, paid or provided by a business or governmental agency that exceeds, or may reasonably be anticipated to exceed, $10,000 annually; (iv) ownership of real or personal property if the interest exceeds $10,000 in value and excluding ownership in a business, income, or salary, other compensation, fringe benefits or benefits from the use of property; (v) personal liability incurred or assumed on behalf of a business if the liability exceeds three percent of the asset value of the business; or (vi) an option for ownership of a business or real or personal property if the ownership interest will consist of (i) or (iv) above.

"Personal interest in a contract" means a personal interest that an officer or employee has in a contract with a governmental agency, whether due to his being a party to the contract or due to a personal interest in a business that is a party to the contract.

"Personal interest in a transaction" means a personal interest of an officer or employee in any matter considered by his agency. Such personal interest exists when an officer or employee or a member of his immediate family has a personal interest in property or a business or governmental agency, or represents or provides services to any individual or business and such property, business or represented or served individual or business (i) is the subject of the transaction or (ii) may realize a reasonably foreseeable direct or indirect benefit or detriment as a result of the action of the agency considering the transaction. the facts. The written opinion shall be a public record and shall be released upon request.

C. If any officer or employee serving at the local level of government is charged with a knowing violation of this chapter, and the alleged violation resulted from his reliance upon a written opinion of his city, county or town attorney, made after a full disclosure of the facts, that such action was not in violation of this chapter, then the officer or employee shall have the right to introduce a copy of the opinion at his trial as evidence that he did not knowingly violate this chapter.

§ 2.2-3122. Knowing violation of chapter constitutes malfeasance in office or employment

Any person who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this chapter shall be guilty of malfeasance in office or employment. Upon conviction thereof, the judge or jury trying the case, in addition to any other fine or penalty provided by law, may order the forfeiture of such office or employment.

§ 2.2-3123. Invalidation of contract; rescission of sales

A. Any contract made in violation of § 2.2-3103 or §§ 2.2-3106 through 2.2-3109 may be declared void and may be rescinded by the governing body of the contracting or selling governmental agency within five years of the date of such contract. In cases in which the contract is invalidated, the contractor shall retain or receive only the reasonable value, with no increment for profit or commission, of the property or services furnished prior to the date of receiving notice that the contract has been voided. In cases of recision of a contract of sale, any refund or restitution shall be made to the contracting or selling governmental agency.

B. Any purchase by an officer or employee made in violation of § 2.2-3103 or §§ 2.2-3106 through 2.2-3109 may be rescinded by the governing body of the contracting or selling governmental agency within five years of the date of such purchase.

§ 2.2-3124. Civil penalty from violation of this chapter

In addition to any other fine or penalty provided by law, an officer or employee who knowingly violates any provision of §§ 2.2-3103 through 2.2-3112 shall be subject to a civil penalty in an amount equal to the amount of money or thing of value received as a result of such violation. If the thing of value received by the officer or employee in violation of §§ 2.2-3103 through 2.2-3112 increases in value between the time of the violation and the time of discovery of the violation, the greater value shall determine the amount of the civil penalty. Further, all money or other things of value received as a result of such violation shall be forfeited in accordance with the provisions of § 19.2-386.33.

§ 2.2-3125. Limitation of actions

The statute of limitations for the criminal prosecution of a person for violation of any provision of this chapter shall be one year from the time the Attorney General, if the violation is by a state officer or employee, or the attorney for the Commonwealth, if the violation is by a local officer or employee, has actual knowledge of the violation or five years from the date of the violation, whichever event occurs first. Any prosecution for malfeasance in office shall be governed by the statute of limitations provided by law.

§ 2.2-3126. Enforcement

A. The provisions of this chapter relating to an officer or employee serving at the state level of government shall be enforced by the Attorney General.

In addition to any other powers and duties prescribed by law, the Attorney General shall have the following powers and duties within the area for which he is responsible under this section:

1. He shall advise the agencies of state government and officers and employees serving at the state level of government on appropriate procedures for complying with the requirements of this chapter. He may review any disclosure statements, without notice to the affected person, for the purpose of determining satisfactory compliance, and shall investigate matters that come to his attention reflecting possible violations of the provisions of this chapter by officers and employees serving at the state level of government;
2. If he determines that there is a reasonable basis to conclude that any officer or employee serving at the state level of government has knowingly violated any provision of this chapter, he shall designate an attorney for the Commonwealth who shall have complete and independent discretion in the prosecution of such officer or employee;

3. He shall render advisory opinions to any state officer or employee who seeks advice as to whether the facts in a particular case would constitute a violation of the provisions of this chapter. He shall determine which opinions or portions thereof are of general interest to the public and may, from time to time, be published.

Irrespective of whether an opinion of the Attorney General has been requested and rendered, any person has the right to seek a declaratory judgment or other judicial relief as provided by law.

B. The provisions of this chapter relating to an officer or employee serving at the local level of government shall be enforced by the attorney for the Commonwealth within the political subdivision for which he is elected.

Each attorney for the Commonwealth shall be responsible for prosecuting violations by an officer or employee serving at the local level of government and, if the Attorney General designates such attorney for the Commonwealth, violations by an officer or employee serving at the state level of government. In the event the violation by an officer or employee serving at the local level of government involves more than one local jurisdiction, the Attorney General shall designate which of the attorneys for the Commonwealth of the involved local jurisdictions shall enforce the provisions of this chapter with regard to such violation.

Each attorney for the Commonwealth shall establish an appropriate written procedure for implementing the disclosure requirements of local officers and employees of his county, city or town, and for other political subdivisions, whose principal offices are located within the jurisdiction served by such attorney for the Commonwealth. The attorney for the Commonwealth shall provide a copy of this act to all local officers and employees in the jurisdiction served by such attorney who are required to file a disclosure statement pursuant to Article 5 (§ 2.2-3113 et seq.) of this chapter. Failure to receive a copy of the act shall not be a defense to such officers and employees if they are prosecuted for violations of the act.

Each attorney for the Commonwealth shall render advisory opinions as to whether the facts in a particular case would constitute a violation of the provisions of this chapter to the governing body and any local officer or employee in his jurisdiction and to political subdivisions other than a county, city or town, including regional political subdivisions whose principal offices are located within the jurisdiction served by such attorney for the Commonwealth. If the advisory opinion is written, then such written opinion shall be a public record and shall be released upon request. In case the opinion given by the attorney for the Commonwealth indicates that the facts would constitute a violation, the officer or employee affected thereby may request that the Attorney General review the opinion. A conflicting opinion by the Attorney General shall act to revoke the opinion of the attorney for the Commonwealth. The Attorney General shall determine which of his reviewing opinions or portions thereof are of general interest to the public and may, from time to time, be published.

Irrespective of whether an opinion of the attorney for the Commonwealth or the Attorney General has been requested and rendered, any person has the right to seek a declaratory judgment or other judicial relief as provided by law.

§ 2.2-3127. Venue

Any prosecution for a violation involving an officer serving at the state level of government shall be brought in the Circuit Court of the City of Richmond. Any prosecution for a violation involving an employee serving at the state level of government shall be within the jurisdiction in which the employee has his principal place of state employment.

Any proceeding provided in this chapter shall be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction within the county or city in which the violation occurs if the violation involves an officer or employee serving at the local level of government.

Virginia Public Records Act Requirements:

By Jeffrey S. Gore and Roger C. Wiley
Hefty & Wiley PC

Local government officials generally are not enthusiastic about the Virginia Public Records Act (the "Act"). Many elected officials are only vaguely aware that the Act exists. Managers and agency heads are likely to view it as just another nuisance requirement imposed by the state or even as an example of that most despised species --an unfunded mandate. Other local officials may be puzzled about how to handle the masses of paper that clutter their offices or the electronic messages and documents that fill up their email inboxes and hard drives.

All of those reactions are predictable and sometimes they may seem valid. Certainly the state is not sending localities money to spend on records management. Most of the Act's requirements, however, merely reflect what would be viewed as good business and management practice. No organization can really operate efficiently if it can't determine what it did last month, last year, or 10 years ago.

Dependence on one's own memory of past events can be very risky, and although most organizations have a few long-serving individuals who provide "institutional memory," all of them move on eventually. Keeping records and maintaining them in an accessible manner is vital not only for those who come along later, but for our own daily performance.

Having an effective system for keeping the records that are important and getting rid of those that are no longer needed, to make room for new ones, is just common sense. Still, it is easy to neglect records management. Getting today's work done can always claim priority over organizing and storing records of yesterday's work. Some of us are instinctively good at file maintenance while others need to be prodded.

The more positive way to view the Public Records Act is that, by imposing some legal requirements, it forces us to think about records management and assign it as a specific task to someone in our organization. The Act's legal mandate also gives officials a justification for budgeting and spending the resources necessary to make a records management system function properly.

We hope that this handbook will give local government officials a basic understanding of the Virginia Public Records Act and how to comply with it. In its opening section you will find a discussion of the Act's basic requirements, presented in question and answer format, followed by several appendices that contain additional detailed information, as shown in the Table of Contents.

What is the purpose of the Virginia Public Records Act?

Virginia Public Records Act (the "Act") is found in Chapter 7 of Title 42.1 of the Code of Virginia, the Title dealing with "Libraries." It is located in that part of the Code because the Library of Virginia is the state agency designated to administer the Act and issue regulations to implement it. The Act establishes the basic rules and authorizes the Library to issue more detailed regulations specifying how state and local public agencies, officials and employees handle "public records." This includes determining exactly what constitutes a public record, how and long to maintain that public record, and when and how to eventually dispose of it – all of which the Act describes as the "lifecycle" of the public record.

What is a public record?

As defined in the Act, a public record is any recorded information possessed by a public agency, public official or public employee that documents a transaction or activity by or with any such agency, official or employee. The recorded information is a public record if it is produced, collected, received or retained in connection with the transaction of public business, regardless of its physical form. The medium (paper, film, magnetic or electronic file, etc.) on which the information is recorded has no bearing on whether it is a public record.

What local agencies officials are covered by the Act's requirements? Does it also apply to elected constitutional officers?

The Act applies to all departments, divisions, boards, commissions and authorities of a locality or in which a locality participates to conduct public business.

Officers and employees of these various local agencies have a responsibility to comply the Act's requirements for the records they create or receive.

Elected city and county constitutional officers and the staffs and records of their offices are specifically included in the definitions of covered officials and agencies.

What about members of a local governing body?

Members of a city or town council, or county board of supervisors, regardless of their terms or compensation, are officers of the locality and are thus subject to the Act's requirement. In the past, many of them have not treated their individual correspondence and other records about public business, kept at home or in their private places of employment, as public records.

Legally, however, the Act does apply to these records. In recent years, as requests for disclosure of members' individual records under the Virginia Freedom of Information Act have become more common, clerks of governing bodies and local government managers and attorneys have begun assisting their governing bodies in establishing better systems to maintain these records and comply with the Act.

What are the primary responsibilities of local governments under the Act?

• Tell governing body members to read the Act.

Every person elected, re-elected, appointed, or reappointed to the governing body of any locality or other local public body subject to the Act must be provided a copy of the Act within two weeks of election, re-election, appointment or reappointment. The Act assigns responsibility for doing this to the public body's chief administrator, agency head or legal counsel, but in practice the duty may be delegated to someone else, such as the clerk of the public body. The Act also requires members of the public body to read and become familiar with the Act after they receive it. Appendix A in this handbook is a copy of the Act with amendments through July 1, 2008, to be used for this purpose.

• Designate a local public records officer.

Every locality is required to designate at least one records officer to serve as a liaison to the Library of Virginia, and to implement and oversee a records management program, and coordinate the disposition, including destruction, of obsolete records. Local records officers can be designated either by the governing body of the locality or agency or by its chief administrative officer. The locality must give the Library contact information for its designated public records officers and update that information as it changes. Larger localities and organizations may decide to designate more than one records officer, with some having responsibility for the records of only a single department, but all public records in the locality must have someone designated to be responsible for them. The Library conducts training programs for local records officers to help them understand and comply with the requirements of the Act.

• Establish a local records management and retention program

The Act requires every locality and local agency to "ensure that its public records are preserved, maintained, and accessible throughout their lifecycle." Appendix B is a model ordinance prepared by the Library of Virginia for localities to use in establishing a records management program and designating a local public records officer. The Library has also published a very good technical manual for the establishment of a records management program, which along with much other useful information, is available on the public records section of the Library's website: http://www.lva.virginia.gov/agencies/records/.

What are some duties of a records retention officer?

The primary duties are to be certain that the departments or agencies for which the officer is responsible keep their records for the required length of time, maintain them in an accessible manner, and destroy them when it is time to do so.

What does "accessible throughout their lifecycle" mean?

How many of us have a box or drawer in our office full of five floppy disks or 3.5 inch diskettes, but no longer have a drive on our desktop computer with which to read them? One of the jobs of the records retention officer is to make sure that records aren't made inaccessible in that way. Records must be maintained in a form that can be viewed or read for as long as those records are required to be kept. For paper records that is generally not a problem, except for very old records that must be kept permanently. These may require photographing, copying or scanning to preserve their contents. For records stored in other media, the Act requires that they be converted or migrated to new media as technologies become obsolete, "as often as necessary so that information is no lost due to hardware, software, or media obsolescence or deterioration."

How long do records have to be kept?

The length of time varies depending on the type of record. As authorized by the Act, the Library of Virginia has established retention schedules for various categories of state and local government records. Some types of records must be maintained permanently. For certain types of permanent records that are considered essential, copies must also be made and sent to the Library for storage, so they can be recovered in case the originals are destroyed by fire, flood or other catastrophe. Other types of records must be kept only a few years and then destroyed. Appendix C of this handbook contains more detailed information about the schedules that apply to local government records. All the schedules are also available online: www.lva.virginia.gov/agencies/records/sched_local/index.htm.

Are we really obligated to destroy some older records? Why?

Yes, the Act requires destruction of public records "in a timely manner" once their designated retention period has expired. The Library's website has more guidance – www.lva.virginia.gov/agencies/records/timely.asp.

In part, this requirement is intended to make room for new records by getting rid of ones no longer needed. The Act also says that it is state policy for records management to be uniform throughout the Commonwealth. Requiring destruction on a regular schedule ensures that records of the same age and type will be available in all localities at any given time. This is helpful to someone researching information of the same type in more than one locality. Following the schedules for destruction of records will also be helpful in limiting the scope of future requests for disclosure of records under the Virginia Freedom of Information Act.

What conditions must be met before destroying records?

First, the designated retention schedule for the records must have expired. Second, the records must not be the subject of any current Freedom of Information Act disclosure request, litigation or audit, or any proposed change in the retention schedules. Third, the locality or agency's designated public records officer must have certified on a form approved by the Library that the records are appropriate for destruction. After the records are destroyed that form must be sent to the Library.

Can we give the records away or sell them instead of destroying them?

The Act requires that any records created before 1912 be offered to the Library of Virginia before being destroyed. Selling public records or giving them to anyone else is specifically prohibited by the Act.

What are the consequences if we don't comply with the retention and destruction requirements for our records? Are there fines or penalties?

Unlike the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), the Public Records does not authorize private citizens to sue public agencies or officials to force them to comply with the Act. The Librarian of Virginia is given limited authority to sue someone who is illegally retaining public records that he is not entitled to keep, such as an officeholder whose term has expired. The Act also gives the Library the power to audit state or local agencies for compliance with the Act and to report non-compliance to the local governing body and the General Assembly. Such audits are not frequent, and the Library has no power to impose monetary or other penalties for non-compliance even when revealed by audit.

Why do we need to comply, then?

The best reason for compliance is that good records management can make your organization more efficient and benefit both current and future local officials. Legally, the lack of a specific penalty does not change your legal obligation to comply with the Act, and deliberately ignoring it could be cited as poor job performance, or even as malfeasance in an extreme case.

The Freedom of Information Act may provide another reason to comply with the Public Records Act in some cases. When a citizen requests access to a record under FOIA, the local agency or official has an obligation to produce that record, unless it is covered by a specific statutory exemption.

If the record has been discarded or destroyed before the end of the retention period established by the State Library, the failure to comply with the Public Records Act may be revealed, which is embarrassing at the very least. We are not aware that any court has ruled that failure to produce the record due to its premature destruction also constitutes a violation of FOIA, but we believe such an argument could be made. FOIA violations, of course, can result in civil penalties and payment of the requester's attorney fees.

TITLE 42.1. LIBRARIES
CHAPTER 7. VIRGINIA PUBLIC RECORDS ACT

Virginia Public Records Act

Includes all amendments effective July 1, 2013

§ 42.1-76. Legislative intent; title of chapter

The General Assembly intends by this chapter to establish a single body of law applicable to all public officers and employees on the subject of public records management and preservation and to ensure that the procedures used to manage and preserve public records will be uniform throughout the Commonwealth.

This chapter may be cited as the Virginia Public Records Act.

§ 42.1-76.1. Notice of Chapter

Any person elected, reelected, appointed, or reappointed to the governing body of any agency subject to this chapter shall (i) be furnished by the agency or public body's administrator or legal counsel with a copy of this chapter within two weeks following election, reelection, appointment, or reappointment and (ii) read and become familiar with the provisions of this chapter.

"Disaster plan" means the information maintained by an agency that outlines recovery techniques and methods to be followed in case of an emergency that impacts the agency's records.

"Electronic record" means a public record whose creation, storage, and access require the use of an automated system or device. Ownership of the hardware, software, or media used to create, store, or access the electronic record has no bearing on a determination of whether such record is a public record.

"Essential public record" means records that are required for recovery and reconstruction of any agency to enable it to resume its core operations and functions and to protect the rights and interests of persons.

"Librarian of Virginia" means the State Librarian of Virginia or his designated representative.

"Public record" or "record" means recorded information that documents a transaction or activity by or with any public officer, agency or employee of an agency. Regardless of physical form or characteristic, the recorded information is a public record if it is produced, collected, received or retained in pursuance of law or in connection with the transaction of public business. The medium upon which such information is recorded has no bearing on the determination of whether the recording is a public record.

For purposes of this chapter, "public record" shall not include nonrecord materials, meaning materials made or acquired and preserved solely for reference use or exhibition purposes, extra copies of documents preserved only for convenience or reference, and stocks of publications.

"Records retention and disposition schedule" means a Library of Virginia-approved timetable stating the required retention period and disposition action of a records series. The administrative, fiscal, historical, and legal value of a public record shall be considered in appraising its appropriate retention schedule. The terms "administrative," "fiscal," "historical," and "legal" value shall be defined as:

1. "Administrative value": Records shall be deemed of administrative value if they have continuing utility in the operation of an agency.
2. "Fiscal value": Records shall be deemed of fiscal value if they are needed to document and verify financial authorizations, obligations, and transactions
3. "Historical value": Records shall be deemed of historical value if they contain unique information, regardless of age, that provides understanding of some aspect of the government and promotes the development of an informed and enlightened citizenry.
4. "Legal value": Records shall be deemed of legal value if they document actions taken in the protection and proving of legal or civil rights and obligations of individuals and agencies.

§ 42.1-78. Confidentiality safeguarded

Any records made confidential by law shall be so treated. Records which by law are required to be closed to the public shall not be deemed to be made open to the public under the provisions of this chapter. Records in the custody of The Library of Virginia which are required to be closed to the public shall be open for public access 75 years after the date of creation of the record. No provision of this chapter shall be construed to authorize or require the opening of any records ordered to be sealed by a court. All records deposited in the archives that are not made confidential by law shall be open to public access.

§ 42.1-79. Records management function vested in The Library of Virginia

A. The archival and records management function shall be vested in The Library of Virginia. The Library of Virginia shall be the official custodian and trustee for the Commonwealth of all public records of whatever kind, and regardless of physical form or characteristics, that are transferred to it from any agency. As the Commonwealth's official repository of public records, The Library of Virginia shall assume ownership and administrative control of such records on behalf of the Commonwealth. The Library of Virginia shall own and operate any equipment necessary to manage and retain control of electronic archival records in its custody, but may, at its discretion, contract with third-party entities to provide any or all services related to managing archival records on equipment owned by the contractor, by other third parties, or by The Library of Virginia.

B. The Librarian of Virginia shall name a State Archivist who shall perform such functions as the Librarian of Virginia assigns.

C. Whenever legislation affecting public records management and preservation is under consideration, The Library of Virginia shall review the proposal and advise the General Assembly on the effects of its proposed implementation.

§ 42.1-82. Duties and powers of Library Board

A. The State Library Board shall:

1. Issue regulations concerning procedures for the disposal, physical destruction or other disposition of public records containing social security numbers. The procedures shall include all reasonable steps to destroy such documents by (i) shredding, (ii) erasing, or (iii) otherwise modifying the social security numbers in those records to make them unreadable or undecipherable by any means.
2. Issue regulations and guidelines designed to facilitate the creation, preservation, storage, filing, reformatting, management, and destruction of public records by agencies. Such regulations shall mandate procedures for records management and include recommendations for the creation, retention, disposal, or other disposition of public records.

B. The State Library Board may establish advisory committees composed of persons with expertise in the matters under consideration to assist the Library Board in developing regulations and guidelines.

§ 42.1-85. Records Management Program; agencies to cooperate; agencies to designate records officer

A. The Library of Virginia shall administer a records management program for the application of efficient and economical methods for managing the lifecycle of public records consistent with regulations and guidelines promulgated by the State Library Board, including operation of a records center or centers. The Library of Virginia shall establish procedures and techniques for the effective management of public records, make continuing surveys of records and records keeping practices, and recommend improvements in current records management practices, including the use of space, equipment, software, and supplies employed in creating, maintaining, and servicing records.

B. Any agency with public records shall cooperate with The Library of Virginia in conducting surveys. Each agency shall establish and maintain an active, continuing program for the economical and efficient management of the records of such agency. The agency shall be responsible for ensuring that its public records are preserved, maintained, and accessible throughout their lifecycle, including converting and migrating electronic records as often as necessary so that information is not lost due to hardware, software, or media obsolescence or deterioration. Any public official who converts or migrates an electronic record shall ensure that it is an accurate copy of the original record. The converted or migrated record shall have the force of the original.

C. Each state agency and political subdivision of this Commonwealth shall designate as many as appropriate, but at least one, records officer to serve as a liaison to The Library of Virginia for the purposes of implementing and overseeing a records management program, and coordinating legal disposition, including destruction, of obsolete records. Designation of state agency records officers shall be by the respective agency head. Designation of a records officer for political subdivisions shall be by the governing body or chief administrative official of the political subdivision. Each entity responsible for designating a records officer shall provide The Library of Virginia with the name and contact information of the designated records officer, and shall ensure that such information is updated in a timely manner in the event of any changes.

D. The Library of Virginia shall develop and make available training and education opportunities concerning the requirements of and compliance with this chapter for records officers in the Commonwealth.

§ 42.1-86. Essential public records; security recovery copies; disaster plans

A. In cooperation with the head of each agency, The Library of Virginia shall establish and maintain a program for the selection and preservation of essential public records. The program shall provide for preserving, classifying, arranging, and indexing essential public records so that such records are made available to the public. The program shall provide for making recovery copies or designate as recovery copies existing copies of such essential public records.

B. Recovery copies shall meet quality standards established by The Library of Virginia and shall be made by a process that accurately reproduces the record and forms a durable medium. A recovery copy may also be made by creating a paper or electronic copy of an original electronic record. Recovery copies shall have the same force and effect for all purposes as the original record and shall be as admissible in evidence as the original record whether the original record is in existence or not. Recovery copies shall be preserved in the place and manner prescribed by the State Library Board and the Governor.

C. The Library of Virginia shall develop a plan to ensure preservation of public records in the event of disaster or emergency as defined in § 44-146.16. This plan shall be coordinated with the Department of Emergency Management and copies shall be distributed to all agency heads. The plan shall be reviewed and updated at least once every five years. The personnel of the Library shall be responsible for coordinating emergency recovery operations when public records are affected. Each agency shall ensure that a plan for the protection and recovery of public records is included in its comprehensive disaster plan.

§ 42.1-86.1. Disposition of public records

A. No agency shall sell or give away public records. No agency shall destroy or discard a public record unless (i) the record appears on a records retention and disposition schedule approved pursuant to § 42.1-82 and the record's retention period has expired; (ii) a certificate of records destruction, as designated by the Librarian of Virginia, has been properly completed and approved by the agency's designated records officer; and (iii) there is no litigation, audit, investigation, request for records pursuant to the Virginia Freedom of Information Act (§ 2.2-3700 et seq.), or renegotiation of the relevant records retention and disposition schedule pending at the expiration of the retention period for the applicable records series. After a record is destroyed or discarded, the agency shall forward the original certificate of records destruction to The Library of Virginia.

B. No agency shall destroy any public record created before 1912 without first offering it to The Library of Virginia.

C. Each agency shall ensure that records created after July 1, 2006 and authorized to be destroyed or discarded in accordance with subsection A, are destroyed or discarded in a timely manner in accordance with the provisions of this chapter; provided, however, such records that contain identifying information as defined in clauses (iii) through (ix), or clause (xii) of subsection C of § 18.2-186.3, shall be destroyed within six months of the expiration of the records retention period.

§ 42.1-87. Archival public records

A. Custodians of archival public records shall keep them in fire-resistant, environmentally controlled, physically secure rooms designed to ensure proper preservation and in such arrangement as to be easily accessible. Current public records should be kept in the buildings in which they are ordinarily used. It shall be the duty of each agency to consult with The Library of Virginia to determine the best manner in which to store long-term or archival electronic records. In entering into a contract with a third-party storage provider for the storage of public records, an agency shall require the third-party to cooperate with The Library of Virginia in complying with rules and regulations promulgated by the Board.

B. Public records deemed unnecessary for the transaction of the business of any state agency, yet deemed to be of archival value, may be transferred with the consent of the Librarian of Virginia to the custody of the Library of Virginia.

C. Public records deemed unnecessary for the transaction of the business of any county, city, or town, yet deemed to be of archival value, shall be stored either in The Library of Virginia or in the locality, at the decision of the local officials responsible for maintaining public records. Archival public records shall be returned to the locality upon the written request of the local officials responsible for maintaining local public records. Microfilm shall be stored in The Library of Virginia but the use thereof shall be subject to the control of the local officials responsible for maintaining local public records.

D. Record books deemed archival should be copied or repaired, renovated or rebound if worn, mutilated, damaged or difficult to read. Whenever the public records of any public official are in need of repair, restoration or rebinding, a judge of the court of record or the head of such agency or political subdivision of the Commonwealth may authorize that the records in need of repair be removed from the building or office in which such records are ordinarily kept, for the length of time necessary to repair, restore or rebind them, provided such restoration and rebinding preserves the records without loss or damage to them. Before any restoration or repair work is initiated, a treatment proposal from the contractor shall be submitted and reviewed in consultation with The Library of Virginia. Any public official who causes a record book to be copied shall attest it and shall certify an oath that it is an accurate copy of the original book. The copy shall then have the force of the original.

E. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to divest agency heads of the authority to determine the nature and form of the records required in the administration of their several departments or to compel the removal of records deemed necessary by them in the performance of their statutory duty.

§ 42.1-88. Custodians to deliver all records at expiration of term; penalty for noncompliance

Any custodian of any public records shall, at the expiration of his term of office, appointment or employment, deliver to his successor, or, if there be none, to The Library of Virginia, all books, writings, letters, documents, public records, or other information, recorded on any medium kept or received by him in the transaction of his official business; and any such person who shall refuse or neglect for a period of ten days after a request is made in writing by the successor or Librarian of Virginia to deliver the public records as herein required shall be guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor.

§ 42.1-89. Petition and court order for return of public records not in authorized possession

The Librarian of Virginia or his designated representative such as the State Archivist or any public official who is the custodian of public records in the possession of a person or agency not authorized by the custodian or by law to possess such public records shall petition the circuit court in the city or county in which the person holding such records resides or in which the materials in issue, or any part thereof, are located for the return of such records. The court shall order such public records be delivered to the petitioner upon finding that the materials in issue are public records and that such public records are in the possession of a person not authorized by the custodian of the public records or by law to possess such public records. If the order of delivery does not receive compliance, the plaintiff shall request that the court enforce such order through its contempt power and procedures.

§ 42.1-90. Seizure of public records not in authorized possession

A. At any time after the filing of the petition set out in § 42.1-89 or contemporaneous with such filing, the person seeking the return of the public records may by ex parte petition request the judge or the court in which the action was filed to issue an order directed at the sheriff or other proper officer, as the case may be, commanding him to seize the materials which are the subject of the action and deliver the same to the court under the circumstances hereinafter set forth.

B. The judge aforesaid shall issue an order of seizure upon receipt of an affidavit from the petitioner which alleges that the material at issue may be sold, secreted, removed out of this Commonwealth or otherwise disposed of so as not to be forthcoming to answer the final judgment of the court respecting the same; or that such property may be destroyed or materially damaged or injured if permitted to remain out of the petitioner's possession.

C. The aforementioned order of seizure shall issue without notice to the respondent and without the posting of any bond or other security by the petitioner.

§ 42.1-90.1. Auditing

The Librarian may, in his discretion, conduct an audit of the records management practices of any agency. Any agency subject to the audit shall cooperate and provide the Library with any records or assistance that it requests. The Librarian shall compile a written summary of the findings of the audit and any actions necessary to bring the agency into compliance with this chapter. The summary shall be a public record, and shall be made available to the agency subject to the audit, the Governor, and the chairmen of the House and Senate Committees on General Laws and the House Appropriations and Senate Finance Committees of the General Assembly.

The Library staff have worked with local government groups during 2012-13 to improve the usability of the Act by local officials. The Library website has been improved with guidance on choosing the proper schedule, and by simplifying the schedules.

Locality Retention Schedules

Under Code of Virginia § 42.1-85, the Library of Virginia (LVA) has the authority to issue regulations governing the retention and disposition of state and local public records. In keeping with the Code's mandate, LVA has developed Records Retention & Disposition Schedules outlining the disposition of public records.

Under this policy, the LVA issues two types of schedules. General Schedules apply to the records of common functions performed by or for all localities and state agencies. Specific Schedules apply to records that are unique to an individual state agency. For a copy of your agency Specific Schedule, log into Infolinx.

Before a state agency or locality can destroy public records:

- A records officer for your organization must be designated in writing by completing and filing a Records Officer Designation and Responsibilities (RM-25 Form) with the Library of Virginia.
- Records to be destroyed must be covered by a Library of Virginia-approved General or Specific Records Retention & Disposition Schedule and the retention period for the records must have expired.
- All investigations, litigation, required audits, and Virginia Freedom of Information Act requests must be completed or fulfilled.
- The organization's designated records officer and an approving official must authorize records destruction by signing each Certificate of Records Destruction (RM-3 Form).

When a new schedule is approved, it supersedes all previously issued versions of the schedule.
